To tell the story of the year has been the objective sought in the 1966 Petit Jean. The yearbook itself is just an array of pictures and words, but these depict the many, many events and relationships which have made the year meaningful. The prerequisites of a successful undertaking have been met if you, the reader, find that this book leads you down the pathway of many fond memories as you peruse these pages.

This senior class will graduate and another take its place, but the 1966 graduates will continue their journey down life's pathways, each following an individually chosen path to success and happiness.

Alumni of Harding cherish most deeply the spiritual experiences of their student days on campus. The Christian fellowship, inspirational singing, meaningful prayers, enlightening Bible study, soul-searching sermons and talks, reflective meditation, and reverential worship make a lasting impact that becomes more meaningful down the pathway of life.

Probably at no other time in their lives do students have such excellent opportunities to learn the real meaning of Christianity and to prepare for effective Christian service.

As graduation draws near, seniors recall with deep satisfaction the daily chapel devotionals, worship services at the college church, vesper services in the dormitory, and lily pond devotionals.

Accentuating spiritual development, dorm residents hold nightly vesper services to enrich their religious lives.

Daily chapel devotionals bring students and faculty together in common experiences designed to stimulate religious development.

Helping to provide a solid foundation for further spiritual growth are Bible classes taught by competent, experienced instructors.

Some of the most inspiring memories undergraduates can recall are the rewarding worship services found at the college church.

Weekly reports by economist Jerry Starr helps to keep the student body informed about events of world significance.

Appreciation for the great economic and governmental system of the United States is developed through regular classes, films, special lectures, and the American Studies seminars and tours. Faith in God, constitutional government, and a free-enterprise economy are stressed as the foundation principles of the American system which provides such a high level of personal freedom and an unexcelled measure of economic prosperity.

Students are impressed with the responsibility they have for becoming informed citizens and for providing leadership during the important years ahead. Through a study of history, political science, and economics they learn facts and concepts that will help them make wise business, political, and legislative decisions.

Demonstrating unparalleled enthusiasm in quest for office, freshmen candidates gather in the SA office for the final tallying of votes.

Political Science 202, taught by Ray Muncy, compares the values of our American society with those of non-competing economic systems.

An impromptu discussion about America's future as a free enterprise society enlivens interest.

Gathering data for research assignments, undergraduates may avail themselves of a private carrel which makes possible better concentration.

Observing the characteristic reactions of aliphatic and aromatic carbon compounds, Otis Edge gains valuable experience from organic chemistry lab.

For Joan Ritchie an important phase of academic achievement includes the diligent practice she gives to the development of her musical talent.

Counseling becomes increasingly important as the Harding students work toward degrees which will prepare them for future leadership and service in the arts and sciences.

An invaluable segment of the college plant, the library provides the necessary study atmosphere and constitutes a center for academic research.

Achievement of excellence is a significant objective of the academic program at Harding College. The general education program is designed to give students a broad perspective in the fine arts, humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, and religion. Specialization in a major field of interest provides the pathway to knowledge in depth.

Research in the library as well as in laboratories is an important avenue to knowledge. A carefully selected library of more than 75,000 volumes, supplemented by numerous microfilms, recordings, and current journals, provides resource material in the classics as well as in modern technical literature.

Seminars on major social, political and economic issues conducted by recognized scholars afford students the opportunity to obtain information on vital problems and to clarify their position through the exchange of ideas.

Linda Spears is exemplary of many Harding students who earn money by assisting professors with grading, typing, and various office tasks.

Various biochemical and physiological research data are used in evaluating the level of physical fitness according to age, sex, and body build.

College life would not be complete without the excitement provided by intercollegiate athletic competition.

An unexcelled intramural program offers every man and woman the opportunity to develop ability in sports skills as well as to participate in vigorous competitive team sports.

Recreational activity classes help students to develop skill in sports that can be played throughout adult life. The coaches and physical education instructors stress the value of good health habits and good sportsmanship. The group research program on the scientific evaluation of physical fitness levels is making significant contributions to knowledge in the area and is opening the pathway to better health.

In flag football, one of the most popular sports offered in the intramural program, teamwork and coordination provide impetus for winning plays.

Scrimmage games between the Bisons and Carder-Buick enable the second team to develop for intercollegiate play.

Explaining how to grasp a bowling ball, instructor M. E. Berryhill gives encouragement that enables beginning bowlers to improve their skills.

The keen desire for an improved physique and muscle tone inspires men to workout regularly using isometric exercises and weightlifting.

DEDICATION

Humble heart, great service mark the man of dedication

From among the capable and dedicated exemplars at Harding College there are those who stand out in the evaluation of students because of their amazing versatility, outstanding teaching ability, intriguing insight into student problems, or captivating personal appeal. The man to whom the senior class dedicates the 1966 Petit Jean possesses all these characteristics to a high degree. He "wears several hats" as his pathway crosses the pathways of most students during each academic year. His counsel and advice are constantly sought and his classes are in great demand. He is one of the first contacts freshmen make and among the last whom all seniors face since he directs the institutional testing program. For diversion he serves as faculty advisor to the student council and coach of the intercollegiate golf team. It is to you, Dr. Bob J. Gilliam, that this book is respectfully dedicated.

BOB J. GILLIAM, PhD

THE GILLIAM FAMILY. Roy, Dr. Bob, Dorothy, Priscilla, and David.

Dr. Bob Gilliam observes his sons, David and Roy, as they look into the reservoir of punch at the Harding Women's family Christmas party.

The dynamic Director of Testing, Dr. Bob Gilliam, explains to an ambitious sophomore the significance of his scores on the STEP Test.

Dr. Gilliam, Harding's capable intercollegiate golf coach, shows Mickey Jones how to hold his club so that he can get distance on drives.

Dr. Clyde R. Montgomery joined the Harding College faculty in the fall of 1959. He served one year as Director of Testing and Counseling before devoting full time to the teaching of undergraduate and graduate elementary education courses. His wife, Mrs. Maude Montgomery, is a member of the elementary education faculty.

A native of Tyler County, W. Va., Dr. Montgomery attended Salem College, the University of West Virginia, Duke University and State University of Iowa, receiving the Ph.D. degree from the latter institution. He was active in the Searcy Kiwanis Club and was a member of a number of professional organizations and learned societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, and he was a member of the College Church of Christ. He died of a heart attack on April 2, 1965, while working on his farm near Searcy.

Dr. William Knox Summitt joined the Harding College faculty in the fall of 1933 and gave 32 years of dedicated, effective service in various capacities. After serving as Registrar for many years, he became Director of the Teacher Education Program in 1960.

Born at Cardwell, Mo., he attended Freed-Hardeman College, Union University, George Peabody College and the University of Missouri, receiving the Ph.D. degree from the latter institution. He had served as Chairman of the Camp Wyldewood Board since the camp's beginning in 1948 and he was a past president of both the Kiwanis Club and the Young Business Men's Club. Dr. Summitt, a deacon in the College Church of Christ, was attending a meeting of the Quawpaw Boy Scout Council in New Orleans when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on October 2, 1965.

ADMINISTRATION

Harding's new president well-trained for role

Leading the procession of the commencement exercises, Dr. Ganus appears confident that the graduating seniors will prove useful citizens.

DR. CLIFTON LOYD GANUS, JR., Harding's new president, is a man of purpose and dedication. Professionally trained and broadly educated, Dr. Ganus directs the complex Harding program with the confidence and skill that befits a southern gentleman, a scholar, and a Christian.

President Ganus received the Ph.D. degree in American history from Tulane University and subsequently did a year of post-doctoral study in college administration at Columbia University. He is a world traveler and his views on government policies and world situations are sought by students and civic leaders throughout the nation.

A graduate of Harding College, Dr. Ganus has already given 19 years of dedicated service to his alma mater as teacher and administrator. Involved in every facet of Harding's program, he works hard, plays hard, and administers wisely.

Witty, understanding, and interested in others, President Ganus is an excellent example of the modern American leader. A forceful speaker and a good listener, his very appearance resolves doubts and simplifies problems which arise each day on a busy campus.

Checking on the arrangements for the Thanksgiving dinner, Dr. Ganus is assured by Mr. Pulley that the day's activities will run smoothly.

Chairman of the Harding Board of Directors, Dr. Houston T. Karnes, chats with President Ganus during the annual lectureship activities.

Dr. George Stuart Benson guided the destinies of Harding College as president from September, 1936, to June, 1965, when he retired as president of the college. During these 29 years he worked untiringly and unceasingly to develop an excellent physical plant, to raise a substantial endowment, to develop a strong faculty, to promote the aims and objectives of the college, to gain accreditation for the academic program, and to disseminate the values of Christian education.

A dynamo of energy and optimism, Dr. Benson raised 30 million dollars during his tenure as president. A fluent and forceful speaker in constant demand by leading civic groups across the nation, he received national recognition for his clear and forthright presentation of the values of the free-enterprise economic system, constitutional government, and faith in God. An effective gospel preacher and a zealous promoter of world evangelism, Dr. Benson has probably done more than any other man of his generation to promote the spread of undenominational New Testament Christianity.

The campus of Harding College today stands as a monument to Dr. Benson — to his belief in Christian education, his love for young people, and his successful labor.

Ending a twenty-nine year tenure as president of Harding College, Dr. George S. Benson presented his final address before hundreds.

Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, extends congratulations to President Ganus following inauguration ceremonies.

Dr. Benson, President Emeritus, jovially talks with President Ganus and President D. W. Mullins of the U. of A. following the inauguration.

President Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., backed by fellow leaders in education, embarks upon a new epoch of his life as president of Harding College.

ADMINISTRATION

Retirement and inauguration brings new leader

The first lady at his side, President Ganus is honored by hundreds of friends and colleagues at the inaugural banquet following his induction.

The pomp and pageantry of the formal inauguration of Dr. Clifton Loyd Ganus, Jr., as president of Harding College on September 18, 1965, impressed all present with the great responsibilities and terrific demands of the office. Representatives from more than 175 colleges, universities, learned societies, and professional organizations in academic regalia added dignity to the impressive ceremony presided over by Dr. Houston T. Karnes, president of the board. Greetings were brought by distinguished educators and President Ganus outlined the goals of his administration in an impressive inaugural address.

Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, addressed the 600 guests at the inaugural dinner for which Jim Bill McInTeer, a Harding alumnus and board member, served in a superb manner as master of ceremonies and Vernal Richardson and Ann Sewell played a violin-piano number. Louis Green, another Harding alumnus and board member, served as master of ceremonies of the inaugural luncheon at which the Belles and Beaux entertained magnificently.

DR. R. T. CLARK is well known to every Harding student because of his wide range of college interests and his ability to inspire enthusiasm in students and teachers.

As Vice-President in charge of the research program in the life sciences, Dr. Clark is responsible for directing the research laboratory, presenting the Harding story to research foundations, and bringing distinguished scientists to the campus. His ability to persuade others makes him an especially good ambassador to represent the college.

Dr. Clark is an outstanding teacher of biology and he teaches a section of freshman biology each semester. An authority on important phases of space medicine and travel, Dr. Clark is an interesting lecturer and a brilliant conversationalist.

Coach of AIC championship teams in both track and cross-country, father of three Harding students, dynamic lecturer, and noted researcher, Dr. Clark is a valuable leader and a loyal alumnus.

ROBERT T. CLARK, JR., PhD

Addressing an attentive Harding freshman class, Dr. R. T. Clark reveals interesting facets of science, by relating his professional experiences.

Heading the complex research program, Dr. Clark directs the activities necessary to learn the effects of oxygen in outer space on humans.

JOSEPH E. PRYOR, PhD

DR. JOSEPH E. PRYOR, Dean of Harding College, possesses keen intelligence, an untiring capacity for work, and a humble spirit.

As academic dean, Dr. Pryor co-ordinates the entire college curriculum. His abilities to manage, to persuade, and to guide enable him to complete the mountainous tasks which confront him each day.

Serving capably as a coordinator of the North Central Association Liberal Arts Study Program, Dr. Pryor visits several colleges each year to assist them in self-study programs. "Dr. Joe" also serves as Secretary-Treasurer of Region II of Alpha Chi, President of the Department of Higher Education of the Arkansas Education Association, and is Harding's faculty representative to the Arkansas Inter-collegiate Athletic Association.

An excellent teacher, Dr. Pryor explains the problems and wonder of physical science to his classes each semester. Each year he gives valuable assistance to the Petit Jean as faculty advisor.

ADMINISTRATION

Keen sense of responsibility guides our officers

VIRGIL LAWYER, MA

Harding's Dean of Students and Director of Admissions is a winsome recruiter, an able administrator, and a competent advisor. VIRGIL LAWYER works each day for Harding, whether on the Searcy campus or in hundreds of other towns and cities in the search for high caliber students who might be interested in Christian education. In student recruitment he is ably assisted by Eddie R. Campbell.

President of Harding's Alumni Association, Virgil Lawyer keeps in contact with thousands of former students on every part of the globe. Because it is important that Harding students feel welcome and "at home" during the first weeks of the fall semester, Dean Lawyer's wit and keen intelligence enable him to cope with every situation and problem that arises.

An avid sports fan, Mr. Lawyer sponsors the Bison Boosters and lends a guiding hand to TNT men as they participate in intramural activities.

As Harding's Dean of Women MRS. INEZ PICKENS is vitally interested in every young woman on campus and is anxious to encourage them in every possible way.

An able teacher, Mrs. Pickens has instructed hundreds of students in English during her years of service at the Harding Academy. She is director of Pattie Cobb Hall, the home of one hundred Harding women, and she is active in the Searcy chapter of A.A.U.W. as well as in Harding Business and Professional Women.

Her warm smile, easy manner, and exemplification of Harding ideals are appreciated by students and her interest and respect for others make her an important member of the faculty.

INEZ PICKENS, BA

Making plans for graduate study with senior Joe Belew, Virgil Beckett performs one of his many services for students as registrar of Harding.

Our Registrar is a vital member of Harding's administrative team. VIRGIL BECKETT serves in countless ways to assure the accurate and efficient handling of important school records and reports. Though a busy man, Mr. Beckett always takes time to counsel and direct students who respect his advice about graduate study and other future plans. Students find pleasure in talking with an administrator whose smile and wit can ease some of the tensions which mount during hectic college weeks.

Mr. Beckett and his wife are active civic workers, are interested in all Bison sports, and are zealous workers in the College Church of Christ. His interests are many, yet his enthusiasm never wanes.

He finds relaxation from his strenuous work through working in his yard, playing a round of golf, or fishing in one of the many lakes near Searcy with some of his friends.

VIRGIL BECKETT, BA

LOTT TUCKER, BA

LOTT TUCKER'S sound judgment and financial leadership have been important factors in the development of the expanding Harding plant.

Responsible for new construction as well as fiscal control on both the Searcy and Memphis campuses, Mr. Tucker must use a variety of skills in his position as Business Manager.

Though the pressures of business and decision-making are intense, Mr. Tucker manages to keep a calm appearance, a level head, and an alert, understanding frame of mind.

An active Kiwanian, he has been a leader in the community as a former club president and on the campus as a Circle K sponsor.

Unselfishness and diligence characterize the work of Harding's BOARD OF TRUSTEES. With the best interest of the college and its students in mind, these men have led the school forward for many years. The satisfaction of promoting Christian education is the reward for these outstanding men, who are leaders in various professional fields.

Led by Dr. Houston T. Karnes, the Board sets the policy of the college and advises the administration on many financial, educational, and administrative problems.

Successful, dedicated Christians, these men are interested in each Harding student as they lend valuable assistance in many ways to improve the college in all facets of its work.

BIBLE

Bible faculty influences our lives in class and on campus

"To give students an education of high quality which will lead to an understanding and a philosophy of life consistent with Christian ideals" is the objective of Harding College. Daily study of the Bible as part of the college curriculum in classes taught by scholarly, dedicated men who believe that Christ is "the way, the truth and the life" helps to implement this aim. Lectureships, seminars, and workshops supplement the regular academic program.

William Joe Hacker, Jr., Chairman of the Department of Bible, was on leave this year working toward the doctorate in religious education and Conard Hays coordinated the work of the department as Assistant Chairman.

EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

Education faculty encourages and instructs future teachers

Dr. Ed Sewell, chairman of the education department, counsels with Diane Holder enacting one of the many responsibilities of his office.

College students of today will be the teachers, leaders, and decision makers of tomorrow. In an age characterized by rapid change, it is imperative that students receive both a broad background in the liberal arts and in-depth specialization in a chosen field.

Each year more than 100 seniors at Harding certify to teach. The teacher education program is NCATE-approved

Dr. Edward G. Sewell was appointed Chairman of the Department of Education and Psychology following the death of Dr. W. K. Summitt on October 2. Dr. Harry Olree serves as Chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Athletic Director. Gene Talbert in elementary education and Bob Corbin in physical education are the new members of this division.

HUMANITIES

Humanities professors guide minds to cultural refinement

The humanities and fine arts are given strong emphasis in the general education program of Harding College so that students can develop an understanding of their cultural heritage and an appreciation of great literature, art, music, and drama. Strong majors are offered in each area for those who are interested in graduate study or in high school teaching.

The Departments of Art, English, Music, and Speech comprise this division and the chairmen of the respective departments are Mrs. Perry Mason, Dr. James L. Atteberry, Dr. Erle T. Moore, and Dr. Evan Ulrey. New faculty members are Odys Clayton in speech and drama, Tom Watson in art, Ralph Stephens in English, and Vernal Richardson in violin. Mr. Richardson served as concertmaster and assistant director of the Little Rock Symphony. Earl Wilcox completed his doctoral dissertation in English during the year.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Courses aid students in understanding universe

Working closely together in the Division of Natural Science are the Departments of Biological Science, Home Economics, Mathematics, and Physical Science. The research program in life sciences under the direction of Dr. R. T. Clark,

Vice-President in Charge of Research, facilitates the academic work of the division. Highlight of the year was the beginning of construction on the new Science Building which will provide excellent class-room and laboratory facilities.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Social Sciences build strong foundations in American ideas

Integrating the work of the various fields included in the Division of Social Science is the American Studies Program directed by Billy Ray Cox. Bi-weekly seminars and a week-long study trip each semester provide students with a basic understanding of the economic, business, political, and industrial life of the United States.

Dr. James A. Hedrick, Professor of Accounting, is acting as chairman of the division and also of the Department of Business and Economics while Dr. Roy Wellborne is on leave this year serving as president of Sioux Empire College in Iowa. Raymond Muncy was promoted to Chairman of the Department of History and Social Science when Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., was appointed president of the college. Charles Walker, who has a graduate emphasis in marketing, joined the Harding faculty in September.

Mr. Cox and Jerry Starr coach a team of business majors who participate in the Executive Games sponsored by Michigan State University. In the spring of 1965 the team received second place in national competition.

STAFF

Harding staff members aid smooth operations of campus

A vital part of the efficient operation of Harding College is played by the many staff workers who keep the various phases of operation working smoothly at all times. They plan and prepare meals in the cafeterias, place the mail in the sub-station boxes, do the secretarial work in campus offices, maintain the buildings, look after the physical welfare of students, tell the Harding story through news media, and perform many other services.

Photographer Russ Simmons of the publicity department performs one of his many services as he snaps pictures for ID cards at registration.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Higher enrollment necessitates larger curriculum

In an age in which the quantity of knowledge in many fields is doubling about every twelve years, the pursuit of excellence in academic endeavor has become a necessity for all college students rather than the privilege of the relatively few intellectuals. The general education program at Harding College is designed to give students a breadth of knowledge that will enable them to function as intelligent citizens in a democratic society. All of the divisions of the college are involved in this facet of the academic program.

Through a study of the humanities students become acquainted with the great literary and philosophical writings of the past and the great productions in art and music that have endured through the ages. Through a study of the social sciences the student learns about the great issues that were involved in the development of western Europe and the United States and the grave problems that now exist in international relations. The basic courses in the natural sciences acquaint the student with the history and methodology of science and basic concepts in both the biological physical sciences.

Patiently working to balance his ledger sheet, John White solves a typical problem he will have as an accountant in the business world.

Eileen Mazuran and Ronnie Killen face the challenge presented by a physics experiment.

Use of grammar and syntax facilitates knowledge of the Hebrew language for Bible major Ben Gore.

Sociology majors Margie Jacques and Max Lorenz conduct interviews to obtain information for a research project in the study of the behavior of typical American communities.

Solitary study and research enables Jim Vanderpool to broaden his political science background.

Effectiveness in both oral and written communication is developed in students so that they can convey ideas to others. Through a study of psychology and health education students learn about the functioning of the mind and the body. The entire program is integrated by a study of the Bible which gives direction, purpose and meaning to life. High scores achieved by sophomores on the STEP test and by seniors on the Area Test of the Graduate Record Examination indicate the quality of the general education program.

Building upon the sound liberal arts base, students obtain depth of knowledge in a chosen area through one of the 35 major programs provided. A dynamic faculty alert to the advances in knowledge and techniques in the respective fields and dedicated to providing each student the best learning experiences possible, guides students in their quest for knowledge. and directing a one-act play, or proving a mathematical theorem, experience is gained through the thrill of creative work akin to that of the productive scholar. The quality of the major programs is evidenced by the success of graduates who have pursued graduate study in leading universities across the nation.

The close relationship that students have with faculty members gives an added dimension to the academic program at Harding College. Many of the basic freshman courses are taught by departmental chairman and other senior faculty members who are capable scholars. The personal influence of the mature teacher on majors in his department is tremendous.

More than fifty per cent of the graduating seniors each year meet teacher certification requirements by completing the NCATE-approved teacher education program. The heart of this program is the "block semester," during which the student spends nine weeks full time observing and teaching in an approved school system under a master teacher, and the remaining nine weeks in professional study. For 1964-65, the first time the National Teachers Examination was required of all seniors certifying to teach, the Harding median score was 29 points above the national median score and no student scored below 495. ACADEMIC LIFE

Lectures and labs facilitate knowledge retention

Shakespeare's literature becomes alive as Dr. L. C. Sears provides background information on the life and times of the poet to students.

Numerous pre-professional curricula are available to students. The two-year pre-engineering program prepares students well in English, mathematics, chemistry, physics and technical drawing. An increasing number of pre-medical science students are finding that the Harding program gives them an excellent foundation for medical, dental, pharmacy or nursing school. Business administration majors have been very successful in passing their CPA examinations soon after graduation. The team research program directed by Dr. R. T. Clark provides students with unique opportunities for research experience in the life sciences.

Application of monetary theory and banking principles provides impetus for informal classroom brainstorming sessions for economics majors.

STUDENT LIFE

Church attendance provides one of many channels through which we communicate with God.

Meeting around the lilypool one night each week for a devotional with fellow students is a moving religious experience drawing us closer to God and enhancing our spiritual lives.

Each Sunday afternoon a group of interested students visit the local home for senior citizens to sing and worship with the people there.

RELIGIOUS LIFE

Enthusiastic pursuit of religious ideals typifies students

With their sights on the path that leads to a more excellent life, Harding students participate in the many religious activities offered for their spiritual growth. Mission clubs are an integral part of social activities. Devotionals around the lily pool led by different boys' clubs are a weekly event. Each Sunday a group of students sing hymns at the local home for senior citizens.

This year more than 1,000 students and guests arrived on campus from other colleges to participate in a student-directed mission workshop. It was designed to encourage every student to be a missionary for Christ regardless of what field of academic study he entered.

Symbolic of the purpose of the mission workshop, to preach Christ to all the world, the globe built by student labor provided an appealing edifice.

Providing a chance for new and old students to meet each other and their student government, the Student Association sponsored several mixers.

BEGINNING OF SCHOOL

Beginning of school brings the experiences of excitement

The halls and sidewalks of the campus buzzed again as excited freshmen and transfer students arrived, and the old-group renewed friendships and memories of past times. The information booth, student mixers provided by the Student Association, and refreshments during the long hours of counseling and registration helped ease the agony of that "ice-breaker" for the new year.

Freshmen were soon initiated into the art of politics as upperclassmen vied for class offices. The new arrivals were able to try their hand at the game a week later when they campaigned for class and Student Association offices.

Meeting Bob Coburn, transfer student Raymond Green finds it easy to make acquaintances and adjust to a new campus at Harding College.

Waiting in the registration line for the opportunity to gather their class cards are tired and weary freshman entrants.

Counseling is one of the most important phases of registration of this senior, Robert Clark, as he seeks advice from Dr. Clark Stevens.

Sophomore Leah Bradford takes her turn at working in the SA information booth, helping to make freshmen and transfer students feel at home.

To gain recognition and to be of service to the school, Mohicans initiated their pledges into one of their club projects.

To this pledge, rough initiation includes an introduction to special delicacies peculiar to his club.

Reggie Berry enjoys the privileges of being a pledgemaster for a week by having lowly pledge Van Harris dust off his shoes.

PLEDGEWEEK

Worrisome week makes weary pledges want rest from work

The seemingly endless week of pledging activities was climaxed with formal and informal initiations, various Student Association-sponsored activities, and Homecoming celebrations. Informal initiation, often referred to as "rough initiation," appeared in such forms as kangaroo courts, hikes through unknown territory, and bunking parties. This was the hardest part of the exhausting week-long activities planned for pledges by pledgmasters. Candlelight ceremonies at which club vows were repeated and appropriate scriptures read were impressive, meaningful finales for each club member.

Showing a spirit of enthusiasm in supporting the Bisons toward a Homecoming victory, each social club decorated a car to represent them in the car caravan just before the game with the Millsaps Majors.

Football team mascot "Benny the Bison" made his appearance at all home games ready to help support the Bisons in their fight for victory.

Backed by the band, pep squad, and cheerleaders, football aficionados enthusiastically cheered the team on to a Homecoming day victory.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming filled with thrills as excitement instills campus

As the alumni came home, high excitement was in the air, and annual Homecoming activities began. These included a chili supper at Wyldewood Park, a bonfire and pep rally at Bee Rock, a thrilling car caravan, and the Saturday afternoon football game at which the queen was crowned during a suspense-filled half-time ceremony. A movie and a party celebrating our victory over the Millsaps Majors, sponsored by the Student Association, were a fitting end to this exciting week which culminated the long hours of effort that went into the preparation of these activities.

By working on the throne, volunteers Pat Hile, Keith Straughn, and Vickie Mitchell help prepare decorations for Homecoming activities.

Queen Paula Peacock was attended by Ann Hedrick and Carol Prucha, Carol Bonnell, Martha K. Crider, Dianne Holder, and Mary Beth Parks.

During lectureship week renewing acquaintances was a pleasure enjoyed by alumni George Gurganus, Dale R. Larsen, and Howard K. Vincent.

Observance of Thanksgiving dinner with family and friends was provided by the barbecue on the final day of lectures with an attendance of about 1000.

With a direct message and a humorous approach, Harding alumnus Jim Bill McInteer lectured to an admiring audience during lectureship.

LECTURESHIP

The visitors receive instruction and inspiration from lectures

Alumni, guests, and visitors literally came from all over the world to Harding's annual Thanksgiving Lectures. This year's theme was "Christ in the Space Age," with the special feature that all speakers were Harding alumni. Highpoints of the activities included addresses during the day by forceful speakers and each evening, special interest classes were devoted to certain age groups. The Thanksgiving barbecue for all, the season's opening home basketball game witnessed by the cheering Bison supporters, and various other events crowded the already busy week scheduled for the visitors.

Thrilling lectureship guests, the Harding Bisons opened their home basketball season with a close victory over LRU.

With a generosity unequalled almost anywhere, student contributed almost one thousand dolls and toys which were distributed at children's homes.

"Santa Claus Starr" adjusts his padding and suit in preparation for his grand appearance at the Christmas party.

CHRISTMAS

Mood of holiday cheer set by music, parties, and decorations

Making the campus cheery and festive with holly, ribbons, mistletoe, and carols was the Student Association's Christmas gift to both the students and the faculty. Students shared with their community and several children's homes by donating time and energy to the Dolly and Toy Drives and the Food Basket collections. The weeks of preparation and anticipation culminated in a joyous Christmas party complete with jolly "Santa Claus Starr," an old-fashioned Christmas tree complete with trimmings, and refreshments served at the American Heritage Center cafeteria.

Hundreds of warm and sugary doughnuts and gallons of hot chocolate were consumed by the hungry but merry folks attending the Christmas party provided by the Student Association.

Christmas spirit is sparked by such decorations as the large wreath on the Administration Building and the Christmas tree on the front campus

Lyceum productions feature best work of students, guests

Varied forms of entertainment are brought to Harding students through the Lyceum series, offering programs by professional performers and presentations from the campus drama department. Music of different types and styles is presented by well-known entertainers.

Color, spectacle, and grandeur were combined last spring in the college production of the musical Camelot. Termed as a truly great performance, Camelot gave Harding's drama and music departments deserved praise and recognition for outstanding effort.

Surrounded by admirers after an exceptional performance, harpist Miss Susanne McDonald gratefully acknowledges the compliments given her.

Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream was brought to life on the Harding College stage by the drama department in the Lyceum series.

Featured in conjunction with the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra, the Romero family, consisting of a father and his three sons of Spanish descent, entertained an appreciative mid-winter Lyceum audience with classical guitar music.

Rewarding humble Sir Lancelot for his spiritual as well as physical prowess, Camelot's King Arthur bestows knighthood upon him.

Nationally famous Serendipity singers entertained a capacity crowd of ardent and excited admirers with an unforgettable evening of popular folk music.

Gay colors, beautiful girls, and royal music mark the traditional winding of the Maypole, with representatives from each girls' social club participating.

Viewed from the vantage point of the queen of May and her court, the festive Maypole winding ceremony is performed gracefully and beautifully in all its pagentry on the front lawn.

Dr. Joe Pryor, Dean of the College, crowns Miss Carol Bonnell, representative of the Mu Eta Adelpian social club, as 1965 May queen.

MAY DAY

Expression of grace, beauty exhibited by queen, attendants

Crowning the queen of May and winding the Maypole are traditional festivities for the welcoming in of spring on the Harding campus. Many early morning practice sessions go into this colorful and festive spectacle which is sponsored by the Ju Go Ju girls' social club. The identity of the queen is kept a secret until she steps onto the path leading to her throne, and the Queen of May reigns over the month in regal splendor. May Day ceremonies and the presentation of the campus beauties are events eagerly anticipated by an admiring student body.

With her young attendants before her, lovely Queen Carol Bonnell begins her reign over the month of May, climaxing months of preparation.

Attendants to Queen Charlotte Burkett are Miss Doris Morris, nominee of the Lambda Sigmas, and Miss Karen Warren, nominee of the Mohicans.

PETIT JEAN DAY

Suspense filled year brought to climax as secrets revealed

Yearbook secrets of the year are revealed at the annual presentation to the school of the Petit Jean in an impressive ceremony which marks the end of a year's work. After dedication ceremonies, the crowning of the Petit Jean Queen, and announcements of the class favorites, students hurry to various locations on the campus to receive their yearbook and excitedly thumb through it with an air of eager anticipation. Special events and remembrances are captured for everyone on the pages which help to recall the most significant happenings of the year.

Crowned Petit Jean Queen by Student Association President David Burks is Miss Charlotte Burkett, a senior from Portales, New Mexico.

After the dedication ceremonies the front campus is dotted with students closely examining their new Petit Jean.

Representing her senior classmates, yearbook Editor Judy Evans dedicated the 1965 Petit Jean to Dr. James A. Hedrick of the business department.

Led by members of the administration and faculty, graduates enter into the last phase of the ceremony.

Waiting to receive their diplomas, seniors reflect on the significance of the moment.

In many instances, hundreds of long miles were traveled by parents, other relatives, or friends in order to witness the awarding of diplomas.

Retiring President George Benson presents to Wheeler Pounds a diploma which represents four years of concentrated and sacrificing effort.

GRADUATION

Graduation exercises signal both an end and a beginning

Facing a world filled with challenging opportunities and enormous responsibilities, graduates, diploma in hand, climax four years of hard work and unceasing effort. Graduation has many facets, some of which are the tearful partings with friends, the rejoicing with family on completion of college, and the contemplation of future eventualities. For many students it is the end of a formal academic career; for others it means the beginning of work toward an advanced degree; to some will come the ties of matrimony and the beginning of a family.

The 1965 graduates were privileged to be a part of the resignation and retirement ceremonies of Harding's long-time president, George S. Benson. Faced with the enormous and awesome responsibilities of leading the college forward was the new president, Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., an alumnus and faculty member of the highest caliber.

Embarking on careers which will shape their future, graduates recall with fond memories the experiences they enjoyed as students at Harding.

PERSONALITIES

PETIT JEAN QUEEN Miss Linda Williams

1966 Petit Jean Queen Linda Williams displays a sparkling personality framed by graceful beauty. Her charm and friendliness radiate from an inward spring of warmth and sincerity. Representing Galaxy men's social club as their queen, Linda is a senior from Cleveland, Ohio, majoring in elementary education. As a transfer student from Ohio Valley College, Linda has proved herself to be a welcome addition to the student body. Versatile Linda was an originator of the Bisonettes, and served as co-captain of that newly-formed club, as well as vice-president of the SNEA. A member of Zeta Phi Zeta social club, Linda has served as both historian and secretary. She also holds membership in other organizations, such as Dactylology, Big Sisters, and Les Bonnes de Christ.

Carol Prucha

Lovely and blonde Carol Prucha adds a sunny touch to the Harding campus. Her likable personality and friendly manner are part of the secret of her attractiveness. Petit Jean Attendant Carol is representing the men of Lambda Sigma social club. A junior from Shawnee, Oklahoma, Carol is a member of the Ko Jo Kai social club. She is a dietetics major, and a member of Colhecon, the Interclub Council, and is an enthusiastic Bison Booster. Carol was also a Homecoming Attendant and is a loyal supporter of the athletic teams.

A talented art major from Rye Beach, New Hampshire, is tall and stately Dale Philbrick. Gracing our campus with exceptional beauty, Dale's delightful personality is enjoyed by all who know her. The nominee of Ko Jo Kai social club, she has at various times held the offices of president, vice-president, and secretary. She has been a member of Bijitsu Club for four years and is a member of SNEA. Dale has also held membership in Campus Players, Bison Boosters, and Dactylology.

Francene Goss

May Queen Attendant Francene Goss always presents a striking picture on campus. Her elegant and stylish appearance accentuates her engaging personality. Enthusiastic and dependable, she exhibits a versatility of talents and interests. A senior from Abilene, Texas, Francene is an art major. She served as both vice-president and secretary of the Ju Go Ju social club, which she represents. Francene has been a member of several organizations, including the Bison staff, Chorale, Band, Bison Boosters, SNEA, and Bijitsu. As a junior she was the Queen of APK social club, and a Petit Jean Queen Nominee.

Erlene Laney

Erlene Laney is delightfully and captivatingly lovely. This personable young lady excels in many areas. Her superior ability as a student has been proved more than once; she has been on the Dean's List four consecutive semesters. A member of the American Collegiate Players and Campus Players, Erlene is a first semester senior from Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, majoring in speech and English. Miss Laney is the nominee of the Zeta Rho social club and other interests include Bison Boosters, drama, and play production.

HOMECOMING QUEEN Miss Paula Peacock

Lovely Paula Peacock, chosen as 1965 Homecoming Queen, is an enchanting young lady from Tiptonville, Tennessee. Miss Peacock holds another royal title, that of Sub T-16 Club Queen, and is a member and past president of the Ju Go Ju social club. She is one of the twenty-four faculty-elected students to be included in the 1966 Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and was chosen to be one of the 1966 Petit Jean Queen Attendants. A four year Bison Booster, Paula also belongs to the SNEA, was a Big Sister, and a member of the Inter-Club Council. As an active member of these clubs and the SA Cabinet, senior Paula is kept busy.

Carol Prucha

Carol Prucha's pleasing personality has won many admirers and has made her a campus favorite. Carol's sweet smile and warm hello are reflections of a generous heart. The Lambda Sigma men's social club chose Carol as their Queen, and the student body chose her as 1966 Petit Jean Queen Attendant. Her club membership is with the Ko Jo Kai social club, for which she has served as president. Junior Carol is a dietetics major hailing from Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Ann Hedrick

Brightening the campus each day with her sunny personality is junior Ann Hedrick. In her quiet way she demonstrates a sincere consideration for others. A Searcy girl, Ann is a secretarial science major and the social club of which she is a member is Ju Go Ju. Possessing a variety of talents, Ann was an active member of the Bison Boosters, Campus Players, and has supported the athletic teams with constant loyalty.

Clouds of gloom hovered over the heads of Coach John Prock and his staff as football practice began on September 1. Reminiscent of the 2-8 season in 1964-65 was the fact that again only six seniors and seven juniors were on the squad of 65 reporting. Gone were several 1964 defensive stalwarts who had enabled the Bisons to keep the opposition from scoring too frequently and to fill their shoes were lanky, inexperienced youngsters.

Going into almost every game as the underdog, the team earned a respectable 5-3-1 record and a tie for fourth place in the AIC. Going into the final game of the season, the Bisons could have gained a first-place tie in the conference if they had won their final game and the two conference leaders had each lost their final game. The terrific running of Howard, who was second in rushing in the AIC with 949 yards for the season, aided by the effective blocking of Mote and the offensive line and the running of Mote and Glass gave Harding the ability to move the ball. The defensive unit made up in desire and determination what they lacked in size and experience and allowed only 20 points to be scored against them in the last five games.

All-AIC halfback Jimmy Howard starts on another one of his ground gaining drives behind the skilled blocking of Dixon, Mote, and Dean.

After faking a good hand-off to fullback Gail Mote, senior quarterback Bernie Cox keeps the ball and rolls around end for a substantial gain.

Fullback Gail Mote crashes through a hole opened by Don Samanie showing a form that won him honorable mention on the All-AIC team.

Ronnie Killen and Dennis Manuel, defensive linemen for the Bisons, stop the ball carrier at the line of scrimmage to thwart a running attack.

Traveling to Lawton, Okla., for the opening game against Northwestern State College on September 18, the Bisons jumped ahead 16-0 in the first half and held on in the last half for a 16-13 victory. Fired up over this victory and the enthusiastic backing of the student body, the team looked forward to the first conference game against Southern State. Lack of experience of freshman players resulted in mistakes that permitted Southern State to jump ahead 19-0, but in the second half the Bisons came back strong to gain a decided advantage in the game statistics though losing 19-26.

The following weekend the Bisons met the Ouachita Tigers who jumped to a 13-0 lead at the half, but the young Bisons thrilled the home crowd in the second half as they tied the score 13-13 and were pushing for another touchdown when the time ran out. A large group of fans followed the Bisons to Conway the following Saturday with hopes of the first football victory over ASTC, but the Bears turned in their best games of the season and gave the Bisons a 33-8 defeat.

Defensive captain and middle linebacker Roger Maddox comes to the sideline to talk to Coach Prock about defensive tactics to be used.

Seeing his intended receivers downfield, freshman quarterback Don Dixon decides to pass before the defensive player breaks up the play.

Sophomore wingback Kenny Glass surprises fans and players by staying on his feet and finding an opening to gain yards for a first down.

Using his size to the Bison's advantage, right end Melvin Jernigan reaches high over the defensive halfback's head to catch the football.

Defensive standout Robin Algee comes from his cornerback position to stop a Millsaps halfback in his tracks behind the line of scrimmage.

Linebacker David Wofford plays off the offensive lineman until he can charge through to stop the Millsaps wingback before he can turn upfield.

FOOTBALL

Bisons upset the league power in AIC football

The Bisons next met conference leader Arkansas A&M at Pine Bluff and played superb football, winning 14-10. Determined defensive play held A&M 14 times inside the 10-yard line.

The Homecoming crowd was thrilled with the 14-0 victory over Millsaps College. This was followed by a 38-0 victory over the College of the Ozarks. The last home game of the season was a defensive battle against Henderson State with Harding eking out a 7-6 victory on the accurate kicking of Donnie Cox.

With the possibility of a tie for the conference championship at stake, the Bisons went to Russellville for the final game of the season. The Bisons stopped Tech's opening drive but a field goal gave Tech a 3-0 lead. On the last play of the first quarter Howard broke away on a 71-yard touchdown run giving Harding a 7-3 lead that held until the closing minutes of the game when Tech pushed across a touchdown for a 10-7 victory.

Elected to the coaches All-AIC offensive team were Jimmy Howard, halfback, and Pete Henry, center, and to the All-AIC defensive team was Donnie Cox, halfback. Gail Mote received honorable mention for fullback. Seniors completing their eligibility were Mote, Bernie Cox, Randy Crider, Dan Samanie, Robin Algee and Dickie Dean.

Defensive guard Wayne Hodnett shows why he starts at this position by coming from a lineman's spot to cause the quarterback to fumble.

BASKETBALL

Bisons show spirit and desire in rugged play

Although an outstanding group of freshmen prospects had been recruited by Coach Hugh Groover, he faced the formidable task of replacing two 1965 All-Conference seniors — Ned Boaz and Gary Goss — who had ranked among the top five in conference scoring the previous year and had provided superb leadership. Harold Alexander, sophomore guard, became the team "quarterback." Ronnie Brown, sophomore forward, provided a consistent scoring threat by leading the conference in scoring most of the season and setting a new school scoring record of 47 points in the home game against Arkansas Tech. Don Medley, senior center, and John Valentine, junior guard, were erratic in some games but they were outstanding on both offense and defense in other games. Glen Whitaker, senior forward, gave extra effort in blocking opponent's shots and in getting rebounds. Although the Bisons were unable to use the fast-break offense of the past two seasons, they demonstrated fine ball-handling ability and improved outside shooting. Lack of offensive rebounding strength, however, weakened the scoring threat at crucial times.

The brilliant play of several freshmen players gave bright hopes for the next three years. Mike Lamb and Bobby McKeel thrilled spectators with their shooting ability — Lamb with a soft jump shot from the corners and McKeel with a long outside set shot. The junior varsity team demonstrated great scoring strength and lost only one game during the season.

Encircled by key team members Alexander, Kerby, Medley, and Brown, Coach Hugh Groover reveals offensive game tactics to be used.

Don Medley, senior center, strives to obtain that extra inch that will give him control of the tip-off and will give his team the advantage.

The tension and stress of the game is seen as Ronnie Brown and Glen Whitaker team up to retrieve the basketball for the Bison squad.

Freshman forward Mike Lamb, a frequent starter on the Bison squad, shows perfect form as he shoots with ease the first of his two shots.

Medley and Whitaker attempt to follow-up a crisp shot for the rebound, helping the Bisons to earn a decisive defeat over Christian Brothers.

Driving around his defender in an effort to shoot a lay-up is junior Lewis Bell, a key member of the 1965-66 squad.

High-scoring guard Ronnie Brown led the conference in scoring most of the season.

In a great defensive effort, center Glen Whitaker springs from the floor to block the shot of his opponent from CBC.

Struggling to wrest the ball away from the ASTC Bears is freshman center Mike Kerby.

CROSS-COUNTRY

National title gives Harding harriers new status

During the summer of 1965, Dr. R. T. Clark, Harding's dynamic cross-country coach and physical fitness authority, had 15 boys scattered across the nation following a rigorous training schedule in preparation for the 1965 cross-country season during the first half of the fall semester. Enthusiastically following the rigorous training schedule outlined by Coach Clark, the Bison harriers demonstrated their prowess by placing second to powerful Abilene Christian College in the Harding invitational meet. Cliff Clark, a senior, and Jim Crawford, a freshman, placed second and third.

In the AIC meet hosted by Harding at the country club golf course, the Bison harriers achieved the ultimate in cross-country by posing a perfect score of 15 against seven conference teams. The first six men and the eighth man to finish the four-mile course wore the black and gold colors.

Cliff Clark concluded a brilliant collegiate cross-country career by placing twelfth in the NAIA meet at Omaha, Neb. The Bisons placed seventh nationally though slowed by snow and sub-freezing weather in contrast to the balmy weather to which they were accustomed. Since Clark, Baker and Merrell are the only seniors, prospects are bright for the coming season.

Dr. Olree, director of athletics, stands at the finish line as top Bison harrier Cliff Clark comes in first to assure Harding a decisive victory.

Jim Crawford, freshman cross-country runner from New Jersey, seems comparatively refreshed after running a three and one-half mile race.

Pre-season workouts in the hills near Harding help to get Dr. Clark's championship cross-country team ready for the year's grueling meets.

TRACK

Mile relay team takes first place with big effort

Climaxing the most successful track season in Harding's history, the Bison cindermen won the 1965 AIC meet with 43 points, 10 points above Southern State College, the chief contender. Cliff Clark, veteran distance man, set two conference records with a 4:15.2 mile run and a 9:43.4 two-mile run. The mile relay team composed of Mike Curry, Phil New, Jerry Baker, and Kent Smith set a new conference record of 3:19.2 in a thrilling race. Other first-place winners for Harding were Jerry Baker with a 1:54.5 in the 880-yard run, Kent Smith with a 48.6 in the 440-yard run and Tommy Bateman with a jump of 6'6 $\frac{1}{4}$ " in the high jump.

After his 1965 conference champion cross-country team had returned from the NAIA meet in Omaha, Neb., Dr. R. T. Clark assisted by Coach Ted Lloyd began conditioning all track aspirants for their respective spring track events. On February 27, Tom Bateman placed fifth in high jump at the Mason-Dixon Games, Louisville, Ky., while some of his teammates were earning sixth place in the Memphis Indoor Meet. On March 6, in the Fort Worth Outdoor Meet, Bateman placed third in high jump and Cliff Clark placed third in the mile run. On March 26, the Bisons placed seventh in the Memphis Outdoor Meet. In the NAIA meet in Sioux City, S. D., on June 4-5, Bateman placed fifth in high jump.

AIC mile relay champs Curry, Baker, New, Smith, and Brown start the daily workout that prepared them to earn this top-notch position.

Distance runners Merrell, Ellingwood, and Clark set a steady pace.

Jim Crawford sprints across the line well in advance of the second place man to break the tape and set the record for the half-mile run.

Kent Smith, anchor man for the championship mile relay team, takes the baton and begins the final and the most pressing lap of the event.

Beginning the first part of the two-mile run in which he is entered, Cliff Clark shows the poise and determination that are necessary to win.

Bison tennis team named fourth in AIC ranks

Following through on a return ball is two-year letterman Terry Smith.

The 1965 tennis team was built around veteran netmen Ned Boaz, Mel Gambrell, Terry Smith, and Tony Webb, who reported to Coach Hugh Groover early in March. Playing 12 contests before the conference tournament May 10-11, the Bison netmen won nine of the twelve contests, frequently winning all five singles matches and both doubles matches. Teams defeated were Little Rock University, Arkansas Tech, Arkansas State Teachers College, Arkansas State College, and Southern State College. Harding lost twice to Hendrix College and to Ouachita Baptist University once. In the AIC tournament the Bisons placed fourth behind Ouachita, Hendrix, and ASTC.

BASEBALL

Baseball nine improve season, look to next year

For the second consecutive year Coach Ted Altman faced the formidable task of building the 1965 baseball team largely from freshman and sophomore aspirants. Since the nucleus of the team consisted of football and basketball players, concentrated practice could not begin until the conclusion of the basketball season and spring football practice on February 28. Lacking in consistent hitting power and limited in effective pitching strength, the Bisons had to rely upon tight fielding, daring base running, and heads-up baseball at all times.

In conference play the Bisons won 4 and lost 8 games to tie with Arkansas A&M and Southern State for fifth place in AIC standings. In non-conference games with Southern Baptist College and Little Rock University the Bisons fared much better, winning 6 and losing only one game to give them a 10-9 season.

Mike Plummer, sophomore pitching ace, was chosen to the 1965 All-AIC baseball team as a pitcher. Plummer was credited with the double-header win over Arkansas A&M, relieving the final four innings of the first game and going the route in the finale. Gary Simpson, sophomore center fielder who was runner-up for team batting honors, received honorable mention for the All-AIC team.

Mike Plummer, All-AIC choice for the pitcher's position, shows the style that won him this position by striking out a prospective hitter.

A near error forces sophomore first baseman Johnny Jeter to scramble back to the bag to retire the runner before he reaches the base safely.

BOWLING

Harding keglers bowl to an AIC championship

BOWLING TEAM. FIRST ROW: Erskine, Simpson, Yurcho, Barber, Barker, Fouss. SECOND ROW: Seim, Berryhill, Beck, Grant.

Endeavoring to improve their scores in competition bowling matches, veteran team members Larry Yurcho and Rob Barber engage in practice.

Ten intercollegiate bowlers for the spring "mail-o-graphic" conference competition are selected by Coach M. E. Berryhill from the consistently high scorers in the intramural bowling contest conducted during the fall semester. For eight consecutive weeks, the scores achieved by the top five performers each week are mailed to the conference executive secretary. The 1965 Bison keglers won the AIC bowling championship with a total of 22,631 pins, 517 pins above Arkansas State Teachers College in second place. In individual scoring Harding placed five men among the top ten in the conference: Larry Yurcho, second; David J. Smith, third; Dennis Burt, fourth; Bill Trickey, seventh; and Rob Barber, eighth. Yurcho bowled 4,555 pins for a 190 pins-per-game average. In the "roll-off" in Little Rock to determine the District 17 representative to the NAIA tournament in Kansas City, the Bisons lost to Arkansas State Teachers College, reversing the outcome of the 1963 season, the first season for bowling in the AIC.

Coach of the 1965 AIC championship bowling team, M. E. Berryhill demonstrates a better way to grasp the ball to two student bowlers.

Constant conditioning is required in order to maintain a good state of physical fitness so that at the proper time, the energy that is needed is supplied.

SWIMMING

Second-year water buffaloes take fourth in AIC

Swimming is the ninth intercollegiate sport which Harding added to its athletic program. In the spring of 1965, the call was issued for boys who were interested in intercollegiate swimming, but only a few inexperienced swimmers reported to the pool. Although the Bisons entered the 1965 AIC Swimming Meet at Hendrix College, they did not win a single point. Early in the fall semester of the 1965-66 school year, John Berryhill accepted the assignment of swimming coach and he began a rigorous training program for the swimming team which was greatly enlarged over the previous season. In the first dual meet of the year with Arkansas A&M, the 1965 AIC swimming champion, the Bison swimmers splashed their way to a 56-28 victory. David Cole and Brian Martin, both freshmen, took first and second place in the 160-yard individual medley involving 40 yards each of the butterfly, the backstroke, the breaststroke, and the freestyle. Harding's 440-yard freestyle relay team composed of Marvin Robertson, Brian Martin, David Pearce, and David Cole turned in a time of 4:18.3. Since freshmen and sophomores dominate the swimming team, the Bison's hopes for the future are bright.

GOLF TEAM. Dickie Berryhill, William Tucker, John Kerby, Mickey Jones, Coach Bob Gilliam.

Early in February, 1965, Dr. Bob J. Gilliam, Director of Testing and Counseling, accepted the assignment of coaching golf. Soon thereafter Mickey Jones established himself as the number one player followed by George Lowe, John Kerby, and William Tucker to round out the intercollegiate team. After participating in a limited number of dual matches with other AIC colleges, the team competed in the conference meet on May 10-11, placing eighth. Early in the fall semester of the current year, Dr. Gilliam began working with the golf aspirants in preparation for the 1966 AIC meet. Dickie Berryhill, a freshman, took over the number one spot followed by Jones, Kerby, and Tucker, all veterans of the previous season. Making a serious effort to gain a higher position in conference ratings, the team worked hard to lengthen their drives and to improve their putts. The Searcy Country Club golf course was the rendezvous spot for the quintet.

Batter Randy Robinette takes his stance and gets ready to take a full swing at the ball as catcher Berkley Hackett rises from his position to be able to make the catch.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Keen competition highlights intramural sports

Showing the good form he has acquired since gaining experience as an intramural bowler, Ron Barnes endeavors to raise his team's score.

Concurrent with team sports are a number of individual sports skill contests. Participants are encouraged to qualify for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, a national honorary athletic society. The intramural program stresses the development of good sportsmanship and performance ability.

Each year late in May intramural awards are given at a chapel program. For the 1964-65 school year, "Spider" Perkins received the athlete of the year award, Dave Fouss was recognized as the sports skill champion, and Wilt Martin received the good sportsmanship award.

Club loyalty involves worthwhile and beneficial athletic competition by many boys who would not otherwise engage in intramural sports. The enthusiasm generated frequently carries over into academic pursuits and other campus activities, enabling intramurals to make a real contribution to the college program.

The annual track and field day, held each spring, provided the opportunity for individual social clubs as well as independent competitors to vie for honor by exerting a combination of learned skill and unified endeavor.

Hands and eyes are centered on the ball as several participants in an intramural basketball contest try hard to gain possession of the ball.

There is much action at hand as two intramural ragtag football teams get ready to open or close the hole that might help their team win.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

Varied sports program provides interest for all

Supplementing a well-balanced intercollegiate athletic program at Harding College is one of the best men's intramural athletic programs to be found in any college. Cecil Beck is the director of the intramural program and his vision, planning, and guidance of the program are key factors that have built and maintained for years an outstanding intramural program in which at least 90 per cent of the men students participate. He is ably assisted in directing the program by Johnny Berryhill and "Spider" Perkins.

From the class softball contest at the very opening of the fall semester until the annual track and field day shortly before the beginning of final examinations in the spring, a varied and challenging array of individual and team events are completed. Competition is scheduled according to classes, men's social clubs, and assigned intramural teams. Major team sports include softball and "rag-tag" football in the fall, volleyball and basketball in the winter, and baseball and track in the spring.

Unable to assist, Wayne Shappley watches as Johnny Vaughan strains to control the volleyball and to successfully return it across the net.

A cheer to stir up the enthusiasm of the members and a minute to talk over the tactics of the game are the reasons for pregame huddles.

Van Harris hands off to halfback Bill Laird and starts around end to lead the blocking while Tom Blucker moves up to try and end the run.

Making an all-out effort to get the opponent's rag is defensive halfback Robley Barber.

In order to make the point and to win the game, intramural volleyball teams learn to set-up to the netmen.

Looking for a teammate in the open, Chris Carpenter waits anxiously to pass the ball.

In addition to winning points for the team, intramural basketball action provides keen competition and characterizes the spirit and enthusiasm in the women's intramural sports program.

As the game gets underway, the referee watches closely to see that the first tip-off is a fair one.

Making a frantic dash toward the finish line, each entrant tries to be there first to break the tape.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

Keen competition sparks women's intramurals

Taking advantage of a few spare moments to practice for her intramural bowling team, Martha Pitner attempts to improve her delivery technique.

Through the continuing dedicated efforts of Mrs. John Ryan — affectionately called “Marge” by “her girls” — a dynamic women’s intramural athletic program has been developed in which approximately 60 per cent of the college girls participate. During the current year Mrs. Ryan has been assisted in directing the program by Mrs. Jerome Barnes and Miss Mary Shannon. Participation is open to every college girl and contests are scheduled according to dormitories, social clubs and assigned intramural teams in an effort to provide maximum opportunities for participation.

Major team sports are volleyball, basketball, softball, and track; individual sports are tennis, badminton, and bowling; and sports skill activities include basketball freethrow accuracy, softball base run, and softball distance throw.

Honorary lettermen's society promotes athletics

Long hours of practice are required in order to develop the skills necessary to become a member of the lettermen's club. The club is an organization which is composed entirely of Bison athletes who have lettered in one or more of the nine intercollegiate sports activities in which the college participates. Promotion of high standards among the members of the athletic teams is the purpose of the organization and the coaches have high praise for the club.

Symbolic of many long hours of hard work and practice, the letter jacket is sought after by players because it represents earned recognition.

Excellence in representing the college and leading the student body in cheers urging victory in the athletic contests was the main characteristic of the 1965-1966 cheerleaders.

However, excellence in any field is not easily obtainable and leading cheers is no exception. Precision and timing are important factors that are required in order to achieve good results. Many long hours of practice were spent in learning new cheers, improving the old ones, and perfecting overall appearances.

The cheerleaders represent the college in the many intercollegiate athletic events occurring throughout the year. The often demanding schedule left the cheerleaders breathless and behind in studies, but they always provided the zest needed to boost school spirit.

One of the highlights of the year came during regular football season when the cheerleaders led the student body in cheers urging victory.

Rushing onto the gridiron in advance of the team, the cheerleaders were responsible for providing the impetus for a better school spirit.

In October, Kay Bonnell was presented a flower and crowned as club queen at the home of Dr. Hedrick. After the crowning and picture taking, Mrs. Hedrick furnished a delicious lunch.

A hotdog supper at Camp Wyldewood provided a delightful evening around the campfire for the gentlemen and their dates. An inspiring devotional around the dying embers concluded the evening.

To highlight the year a "Holiday of Hearts" banquet was held at the Mayfair Hotel. The guests were entertained by a humorous speech on "Love and Marriage" by Gene Talbert. Following the speech, Jo Ann Kelley sang several love songs.

An April outing was held at Petit Jean where members and dates enjoyed the spring splendor.

Honored and happy, Kay Bonnell gracefully accepts the rose presented to her by Anthony Bryant after being crowned as AEX club queen.

ALPHA PHI KAPPA

APK's 'female' pledges arrive at tea party to serve members

Eleven overworked pledges climaxed a rigorous week of pledging by honoring the old members with a strictly "feminine" tea party. Terry Cruce was awarded the title of APK "Girl of the Year." The hectic week was brought to a close with rough initiation at the lower dam.

On February 12, Kelley's Restaurant was the scene for the annual "Sweetheart" banquet. Delicious smorgasbord, hearts and cupids, candlelight and carnations—these all added to the romantic atmosphere.

Carl Allison provided a very entertaining speech concerning athletics and guidelines for living.

Special interest during the year came to the club members as they participated in all of the inter-club sporting activities.

To show their appreciation to Ann Hedrick for acting as club queen, APK's presented her with a club sweater.

Precious moments of planning take place during a time out in a hard inter-club basketball game, as APK's use the break to map strategy.

Keeping up to date on all the APK activities, members Kent Smith and Ronnie Brown check the clubs' bulletin board in the student inn.

Running downfield with great speed, Robley Barber attempts to score before the opponents can converge and form a strong defensive line.

BETA PHI KAPPA

Scholarship trophy received by Beta Phi for high achievement

For the third consecutive semester Beta Phi Kappa received the academic trophy which is given by the Student Association to the men's club with the highest academic rating for the semester.

Wyldeewood was the scene of a cookout for the Beta Phi's and their dates. Beta Phi club queen Marilyn Cobb was presented with a club blazer as a token of appreciation for the energetic way in which she served.

The eleven new members completed their week of pledging and were formally initiated at a breakfast held in the Heritage Room.

'Goodnight Ladies' provides an appropriate finale to serenade

In early December the pumping station was the scene for the club's annual third function entitled "Hobo Holiday." Decorations consisted of pop sculpture and used flowers. The couples were entertained by the Green-Griffin-Miller trio.

In the fall Chi Sigs presented a chapel program which characterized the pledgeweek serenades. For their yearly project they marked off parking lots.

The dramatically talented Chi Sigmas joined together to show good club spirit and loyalty by using their talents in the Speech Arts Tournament to win the Alpha Psi Omega trophy for their club.

After presenting their club queen Jo Ann Kelly with a club blazer, the Delta Iota's enjoy engaging in conversation about coming activities.

DELTA IOTA

Worrisome week makes weary pledges want rest from work

Delta Iota began its year of activities with the pledging of two new members. Pledge week was an event to remember for the submissive pledges. Rough initiation was held on intramural field and a party was held afterwards.

The spring banquet featuring the theme "Wonderland by Night" was held at Bill's Restaurant on March 11. Professor Raymond Muncy was the guest speaker while folksinger Gary Kelly provided entertainment from selections of his composition.

Club queen Jo Ann Kelly stood by the Deltamen throughout the year as she provided cakes and cookies for the hungry members.

As a highlight to the spring semester an outing was held in May.

OFFICERS. FALL: Wheeler, Pres.; McDaniel, Vice-Pres.; Pitt, Sec.-Treas.; SPRING: McDaniel, Pres.; Pitt, Vice-Pres.; Rickett, Sec.-Treas.; Norman Hughes, Sponsor.

FRATER SODALIS

'Twentieth Anniversary' serves to highlight a year's activities

The solitude of a camp fire, the inspiration generated by a devotional, the thoughtful reflection around a candle at a formal initiation, these reflect the Frater spirit of Christian brotherhood in social activities.

"Twentieth Anniversary" characterized the annual banquet held April 9 at Anderson's Restaurant. Speaking for the occasion were Bob Hare and Andy Ritchie.

A long-remembered third function was provided Fraters and their dates by a brisk and exciting autumn hayride. The evening was brought to a close with a devotional around the dying embers of the campfire.

OFFICERS. McCluggage, Pres.; Wilson, Vice-Pres.; West, Sec.; Barron, Treas.; Andy T. Ritchie, Jerome Barnes, Sponsors.

Striving to overcome the Lambda Sigma's in the small club volleyball competition, the men of Frater Sodalitas engage in concentrated effort.

GALAXY

Galaxys enjoy yule season at 'Southern Christmas' banquet

Nineteen enthusiastic new members were initiated at Camp Wyldewood and they joined forces with the veteran members to defend Galaxy's small club ragtag championship. Other activities enjoyed by the club brothers were serenading trips to the girls' dorms and stag outings.

A "Southern Christmas" was enjoyed by club members and their dates at the picturesque Ramada Inn. Russell Simmons, who contributed a humorous reading, also joined with Dot Beck to provide vocal selections to complete a perfect evening of entertainment and gaiety.

The club members enjoyed an informal party in the early spring and an all-day club outing was held at Petit Jean.

New members show increased spirit by helping in dolly drive

Starting a new club can be an interesting but difficult task. Four upperclassmen formed Kappa Sigma Kappa and carefully planned their emblem and defined the basic ideals of the new club. In early October they were joined by twelve new pledges.

The annual toy drive sponsored by the SA aided club spirit as each member gladly contributed a toy for the drive.

As an expression of their appreciation for serving as their club queen, Kappa Sigs presented Tana McDonald with a club blazer.

OFFICERS: Coates, Pres.; Barber, Vice-Pres.; House, Sec.; Milton, Treas.; John McRay, Bob Corbin, Sponsors.

Engaged in friendly conversation, Kappa Sigma Queen Tana McDonald seems to be the center of attraction of the Kappa Sigma members.

KOINONIA

The 'tie that binds' received by weary pledges at initiation

That beautiful starlight night is held as an unforgettable memory for seventeen Koinonias. On this night, they became active club members during rough initiation ceremonies at Bee Rock. The club then joined together to be of service to others and enjoy group activities to the utmost.

Cowboys and Indians flocked to the pumping station in the early fall to enjoy an evening of western fun at the Koinonia "Western Party." After the couples enjoyed games and food in western style, a quartet composed of club members highlighted the evening with a selection of songs.

The Ramada Inn was the scene for the formal "Colonial" banquet. Raymond Muncy delivered an appropriate speech on early colonialism and Dot Beck sang a selection of songs for the entertainment of the evening.

To bring to a close an active year of club spirit, there was a spring outing at a nearby resort area.

All eyes are on Clair McKean as he stands ready to step to the plate and attempt to execute a scoring run for the Koinonia's and their fans.

LAMBDA SIGMA

Rain fails to dampen spirits of Lambda Sigmas on hayride

"And get twelve more dates by Friday or you'll be sorry!" This was a familiar sound to the fifteen submissive Lambda Sigma pledges as they began a week of active pledging. After a week of hard work, rough initiation took place at the Starr's farm. This was followed by a formal candlelight ceremony held in the Bible building.

To climax the fall semester Lambda Sigs and their dates enjoyed a hayride and cookout at Wyldeewood. Entertainment was provided by members Van Harris, Cecil Ethridge and Glen Cope.

Displaying their capabilities by active participation in the Speech Arts Tournament, the Lambda Sigmas united to win the Woodson Harding Armstrong Sweepstakes trophy.

MOHICAN

'Shakey's' song and festivity lightens mood for gay evening

"Hey, pledge! Today you carry Gali-ti-jo-gyp!" This was the call that beckoned some lucky pledge as he was entrusted with the wooden Indian for the day. This and other events constituted pledge-week for some thirty Mohican pledges.

"Ye Ole" third function was held at Wyldewood in mid-October. The Braves and their dates enjoyed the relaxed atmosphere as they were entertained by The Agents.

To climax the spring semester a banquet was held in Little Rock at the Coachman's Inn.

PIONEERS

Banquet theme honors sponsor in 'Dedication to Dr. Stevens'

After a week of demonstrating their capabilities as "pioneers" and a rough initiation at the Verkler farm, seventeen hardy individuals were admitted to the Pioneer Club.

An autumn evening provided an excellent opportunity for the Pioneers and their dates to enjoy the outdoors as they journeyed to Echo Dell for a weiner roast and a time of togetherness.

As an expression of appreciation, the Pioneers entitled their banquet "Dedication to Dr. Stevens." Dr. Clark Stevens, who has served the club many years as its sponsor, was the honored guest. As a highlight to the evening Dan Smith provided musical entertainment.

To bring to a close the year's activities a spring outing was held at a nearby resort area.

OFFICERS. Gambrell, Pres.; Whitehead, Vice-Pres.; Baker, Sec.; Keller, Treas.; Clark Stevens, Sponsor.

Outdoor environment sets the stage for annual Sub T outing

From the beginning of the fall semester and continuing through the last game of the spring season, the men of Sub T-16 were energetic participants in all interclub sports activities.

One event which aroused campus-wide interest in the fall semester was the wresting of the rag-tag football championship from a rival club.

They chose as their project this year the placing of a sidewalk from the lily pool to the bell tower.

To highlight the spring semester a banquet was held which emphasized the theme—"Mardi Gras."

OFFICERS. Barker, Skipper; Robb, First Mate; Algee, Yeoman; Gerald Woodward, Treas.; Ed Higginbotham, Wilt Martin, Sponsors.

Chilly, crisp fall weather makes the hot dogs cooked over the open fire very tasty for the Sub T's and their dates as they enjoy the night.

CLUB QUEENS AND BEAUX

Activities of queens and beaux augment varied club functions

Christmas, birthdays, Valentines — all give perfect “excuses” for clubs to do something nice for their favorite. Beaux and queens are always able to find a good deed to do, too. While the ladies are not adept at coaching male intramural sports they are loyal supporters of the teams by regular game attendance. By the same token the guys excell in directing athletic activity and usually leave the “kitchen department” chores to their favorite ladies.

Each club reserves the right to claim that its choice is the best and reveals this to others by the various ways they select to honor him or her — with a gift of appreciation and by giving them that “red carpet” treatment daily.

Ju Go Ju club beau Mike Plummer uses his vast knowledge of basketball to point out and correct the mistakes of his team at half-time.

By driving the Ju Go Ju Homecoming car, club beau William Tucker demonstrates his helpfulness.

Waiting for the Petit Jean photographer to take their Queen pictures are Ann Hedrick and Francene Goss.

TAG rings in New Year with celebration in Emerald Room

The year was full of social activities for TAG. To begin the activities a potluck supper was held in the courtyard between the apartments and served as a time for renewing old acquaintances and making new friends.

In late October, a Halloween party with costume judging, ghost stories, and kiddy games was held in the dining hall at Camp Wyldewood.

To highlight the yuletide season, a Christmas banquet was held at the Rendezvous Restaurant. Virgil Lawyer delivered an entertaining speech to the couples and Pat Dykes entertained with piano selections.

Charades, paper hats, and whistles were characteristic of the New Year's Eve celebration held in the Emerald Room. This evening of gaiety was enjoyed by all.

Helping a needy family at Christmas was the service project of the club. Members took food and toys to the family to make the season more joyful.

Other activities enjoyed throughout the year were the Valentine party, a bowling party, and the spring banquet held at the Ramada Inn.

Shimmering 'flappers' revive lively style of 'Roaring 20's'

The members of Beta Tau Gamma became imaginative to work up costumes to revive the "roaring twenties" for their fall informal function. The "shimmering flappers" and their dates enjoyed an evening of gaiety and entertainment.

Fifteen Beta Tau Gamma "clods" went through a week of being inferior creatures and introducing their black stuffed "Thermostrockamortimers" to many, many people only to complete the period as equals and club sisters after a beautiful, candle-lighted formal initiation at their sponsor's home, Mrs. Ruth Bearden. Other "cloddy" activities of the week included writing descriptive poems about pledgemistresses and entertaining them with a tantalizing and spicy pizza supper.

A formal banquet and a spring outing were planned to climax the activities of the year.

"We're Ju Go Ju cutie, cutie, cutie pies!" rang out across the campus as twelve girls began a week of pledging. Following formal initiation at the home of Mrs. Thompson, the Ju Go Ju's began a year of fun and hard work.

The fall semester was highlighted by a banquet at Kelly's Restaurant, which promoted the theme "Friendship is Warmth." Amid holly, red ribbons, and candlelight the couples enjoyed smorgasbord and the melodies provided by Dot Beck.

The traditional May Fete, a chili supper, and an all-day outing completed the roster of activities for the spring semester.

Lowly pledges step to active status at candlelight ceremony

Twelve industrious Kappa Delta pledges clad in their loyal gray and white costumes began a busy week of pledging in early October. The longed-for end of the week was climaxed by a candlelight ceremony in the Heritage Room. After the pledges were formally initiated they each received a gardenia corsage, their club flower.

"Dreams of Christmas" set the scene for Kappa Delta's banquet which was held at Kelly's Restaurant in Bald Knob on November 26. KAPPA PHI

Theme for Valentine banquet set as 'Candlelight and Roses'

Twelve very lowly worms crawled bravely through pledge week and a trial before a kangaroo court to become active, full-fledged Kappa Phi's. The pledges were inducted at an impressive candle-light ceremony which was held at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Altman.

In mid-November club members and their dates spent an evening out under the stars as they took a hayride to Wyldewood. After a cookout the couples hiked to Bee Rock for a devotional.

"Candlelight and Roses" was the theme for the annual banquet held February 14 at the Augusta Inn. The members and their dates were entertained by Dan Smith as a highlight to the evening.

Crimson blazers adorn campus as Kojies begin pledgeweek

Fourteen eager pledges donned red blazers in early October as they became prospective Kojies. At the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Tucker, they were formally inducted into the club.

The scenic beauty of Petit Jean State Park added the final touch to a day of fun shared by Kojies and their dates in a fall outing. Appetites whetted by various activities such as hiking and boating were satisfied by hot dogs cooked over an open fire.

Valentines and candlelight set a romantic mood for the February banquet which was held at the Augusta Inn. To climax this enchanted evening, Dan Smith sang and the gentlemen were presented with boxes of Valentine candy.

A third function was held near the end of the spring semester to climax the activities of the year.

In step with club loyalty song 'roaches' march, infest campus

"Hurrah for LC" was sung by the lowly "roaches" as they faithfully marched across campus each morning to please their demanding pledge-mistresses. A rough initiation at Wyldewood ended the period of trial for the pledges, and they later promised to uphold the honor of the club in a candlelight ceremony.

The Sugar Plum Fairy, tin soldiers, and numerous other fairyland toys developed the delightful Christmas banquet theme of "Nutcracker Suite" to highlight the activities of the year. The LC's and their guests were taken from fairyland to folkland by Synette Hubbard who entertained the group by singing a selection of folksongs. Dr. R. T. Clark delivered a speech and showed a group of short, colorful films to the stuffed attenders.

The club's annual Spanish Supper was held in the spring and an outing was planned to end the activities of the year.

OFFICERS. FALL: Terry, Pres.; Boyd, Vice-Pres.; Mauck, Sec.; Argo, Treas. SPRING: Mauck, Pres.; Boyd, Vice-Pres.; Bryant, Sec.; Argo, Treas.; Mrs. Russell Simmons, Sponsor.

MU ETA ADELPHIAN

Men become seamstresses at old-fashioned country supper

A hayride out under the stars led to an evening of fun and entertainment for the MEA's and their dates. Arriving at the pumping station, they quickly consumed a pot of old-fashioned stew. The highlight of the evening came when the gentlemen took needle and thread in hand to finish aprons which their dates had so graciously consented to make for them. Tired but happy, the weary couples climbed on the hay wagon to return from their evening of delightful fun.

Valentine's Day brought "Hearts In Tune" to set the mood of their banquet. Carol Byers and Darrell Chitty presented a selection of songs to make the evening even more memorable.

Hayride out under the stars highlights fall fun for OEGE

The fall weather and beautiful scenery were enjoyed by the Oege's and their dates at a cookout and hayride at Camp Wyldewood. The group enjoyed feasting on chili, playing games, and singing songs around the campfire. The evening was highlighted with a devotional around the dying embers of an expiring fire.

Christmas brought the club sisters together at the home of Mrs. Bills for a "white elephant" party. They exchanged gifts and presented a sweater to the club beau, Sherman Shewmaker.

The Oege's and their guests journeyed to Rome for an evening of entertainment and adventure. Peggy Flippen, with Janice Barker accompanying, sang a selection of songs from "Rome Adventure."

To bring the activities to a close, the Oege's retreated to a nearby resort for a day of hiking, boating, and campfire-cooked food,

'Kiddy' costumes characterize theme for gay third function

Sixteen lowly "finites" closed out a busy week of pledging with rough initiation in the College Park followed by the formal initiation at the home of Mrs. Atteberry. They joined forces with the veteran members to compete in a year of active participation in club sports and activities.

"The Farmer in the Dell," "Drop the Hankerchief," and other juvenile games were played by Omega Phi's and their dates at the annual Kiddy Party held at the pumping station.

As their project members presented the Omega Phi Scholarship Award to the club with the highest cumulative grade point average.

Phi Delta 'rats' endure trying week to become members

"When we are initiated, then we will be appreciated" was a common feeling of thirteen "rats" as they endured the hardships of pledgework. At the close of the week the pledges were instructed in the ideals of the club at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Neale Pryor.

In the fall the Phi Delta's and their dates journeyed to scenic Petit Jean State Park for the annual outing. After hiking along footpaths and climbing mountain slopes the couples satisfied their appetites with a cookout over an open fire.

Enthusiasm was sparked within the club throughout the year as they actively participated in club sports.

The year's activities were climaxed by a banquet and third function held in the spring.

REGINA

Reginas take to the hills to climax busy week of pledging

A rainy October day found the Reginas and their dates at Petit Jean State Park enjoying fun and frolic in the mountains. Hikers followed the long footpath down to Cedar Falls while some couples visited Winrock Farm. Hungry appetites were satisfied by "sloppy joe's."

At the beginning of pledgeweek thirteen "regal" pledges crowned themselves as they became lowly subservants to their pledgemistresses.

"Shangri-la" suggested an unusual theme for a late February banquet held at Bill's Restaurant. Tables for two along with the candlelight provided a romantic atmosphere. The evening was climaxed with a performance of the "Worlds of Shakespeare" by Julie Huddleston and Andy Saunders.

In early October thirteen eager "rabbits" hopped about the campus as they humbly served pledge-mistresses. The week was climaxed by formal initiation which was held at the home of Mrs. Jerry Starr. The pledges quickly joined forces with the active members and the club's eager spirit led them to the winning of the bowling championship.

Enthusiastic support was shown by Theta Psi this year in the intramural sports program in which there was good participation in the various activities.

The year has been highlighted by frequent get-togethers and bunking parties at the home of Barbara Thompson.

At the beginning of the second semester plans were made for the spring banquet.

TOFEBT

Eleven 'toads' now members after having a bunking party

"Hey, toad, come clean my room!" was a familiar phrase heard during pledgework. For the entire week eleven lowly pledges received such orders for operation. At the close of this "eventful" week the hard workers were treated to a bunking party at Wyldewood and then were formally initiated into the club at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Wilson.

Anxious for the holiday season to arrive early, Tofebt members and their dates journeyed to a nearby restaurant for an evening of "Season's Greeting." Three club members sang carols and Mr. Gene Talbert spoke.

As their project for the year the members sent a monetary contribution to the Paragould Christian Children's Home.

Novel 'beatnik' idea utilized by WHC's for third function

One of the oldest clubs on campus began an active year of participation as the present members were joined by seventeen pledges. They were instructed in the club traditions at a candlelight ceremony held at the home of Mrs. Cox, their sponsor.

In the fall the WHC's and their dates enjoyed a beatnik party at the pumping station. Pizza, coconut bobs, and spontaneous entertainment highlighted the evening.

In the Valentine atmosphere of February 12 the members and their dates attended a banquet centered around the theme of "Hearts and Roses." Entertainment consisting of both folk and popular songs was sung by Carol Byers and Darrell Chitty.

The breaking of the Valentine pinata was the highlight of the Zeta Phi third function. After the pinata was broken, each gentleman scrambled to find his very own valentine and to gather bits of goodies. After the excitement of the pinata breaking, the group gathered around the fireplace for informal singing. The function was held at the home of Cindy Watts.

Eighteen pledges became active club members during a formal initiation at the home of Miss Bell.

"Golden Holly" decorated Kelly's Grill for the club's annual Christmas banquet. The couples were entertained with a speech by Billy Ray Cox and music by The Agents. To climax the evening, each girl presented her date with a humorous gift.

REGINA SPIRIT AWARD

DWAYNE VAN RHEENEN

Serving this year as president of the Student Association of Harding College, Dwayne Van Rheenen has had many opportunities to demonstrate his qualities of character and his outstanding ability as a leader. Dedicated to the aims and objectives of Christian education, he has exemplified through his words and his actions the true spirit of Harding College. The sustained ovation he received from visiting dignitaries following his speech on behalf of the student body at the inauguration of President Ganus in September recognized the masterful job he had done on bringing greetings to the new president. Although quiet and unassuming by nature, his high sense of responsibility, excellent judgment, courageous leadership, superior scholarship, and genuine Christian character have made him the almost unanimous choice for the 1966 Regina Spirit Award presented annually by the Regina Social Club to the senior who evidences most clearly the true Harding spirit.

SENIORS

Spirit of involvement enhances senior memories

Assisting the SA by preparing a "Welcome Alumni" sign is senior Dennis Organ.

Seniors Lance Haines and Joe Belew hurriedly try to complete last minute preparations for our homecoming activities.

Extending a sincere welcome to student representatives Dwayne Van Rheenen, Ron Young, and Bob Rader is Bill Cox, one of the hosts for the inaugural dinner.

Posing for her portrait, senior Pat McMackin participates in one of the final activities of college life.

Class elections demonstrate will to participate

Class offices were sought after this year with a keen competitive spirit as posters were hung on the student center in an air of friendly rivalry.

Chilly weather, appetizing hot dogs, and a crackling fire combined with enjoyable companionship provide fundamental ingredients for fall outings.

Graduate studies broaden college perspective

Strengthening the student's knowledge is the objective of Dr. Edward Sewell as he explains a specific aspect of his audio-visuals course.

As a liberal arts institution Harding College provides students the opportunity to obtain a broad education in the arts and sciences and to specialize in one of several fields of study. Because of the strong Christian emphasis a high percentage of graduates either enter full-time church work or become teachers at elementary, secondary, or college level. As a result of the increased need for preparation of teachers and church workers beyond the baccalaureate degree, Harding College offers, in Searcy, a fifth year of collegiate study leading to the Master of Arts in Teaching degree and, in Memphis, a three-year graduate program in Bible and religion for the Master of Theology degree.

The graduate program in teaching is a terminal program designed to prepare superior elementary and secondary teachers. The program is administered by Dr. Edward G. Sewell, Chairman of the Department of Education, under the direction of a Graduate Council composed of five senior faculty members. Subject-matter preparation and teaching proficiency are fundamental areas of emphasis of the program.

ALPHA CHI

Achievements recognized in superior students

At a meeting called to plan induction ceremonies for second semester members, Alpha Chi President Dennis Organ leads the discussion.

Implementing the attainment of academic excellence is one of the primary functions of a liberal arts college. Recognition of those students who achieve high scholarship promotes the high academic goals of the college. In the winter of 1936 the Alpha Honor Society was organized as a local society to reward high scholastic attainment on the part of students and to promote high academic achievement on the campus. In the fall of 1956 the local honor society petitioned the National Council of Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society, for the establishment of a chapter on the Harding campus and the Arkansas Eta Chapter of Alpha Chi was installed on March 1, 1957. Membership in the Arkansas Eta Chapter requires that a junior have achieved at least a 3.70 grade average on a minimum of 80 semester hours and that a senior have achieved at least a 3.50 average on a minimum of 104 semester hours. New members are inducted near the beginning of each semester with an impressive ceremony conducted by the faculty sponsors and a dinner honoring the new members follows each induction.

ORGANIZATIONS

Executing the plans made during pre-school orientation sessions, the Student Association sponsored activities during the first week that included welcoming new students and planning student mixers which provided fun, food, and fellowship. At the annual watermelon party which introduced the Bison Pep Band, folkster Synette Hubbard and jokesters Bob Adams and Bob Helsten entertained the enthusiastic crowd.

The Christmas party put everyone in a holiday spirit. The dolls and toys presented to the different orphan homes showed only a small part of each student's desire to help others. Food baskets were prepared by students in each wing of every dormitory. These were presented to needy families in Searcy before students left for home and the holidays.

Interesting and entertaining Saturday night movies, sponsored by the SA, relaxed and enlivened study-weary audiences.

Composed entirely of students, the SA coordinates all student-administration on-campus activities and provides valuable assistance in promoting many varied worthwhile projects.

President Dwayne Van Rheen expertly directs varied activities and programs of the Student Association with confidence, skill, and tact.

SA sets goals and objectives at new high levels

Maintenance of the SA bulletin board is one of the responsibilities of Secretary Linda Byrd.

Clifton Ganus responsibly disburses and records all monthly expenditures incurred by the SA.

Working closely with Dwayne, Vice-President Bob Rader oversees committee assignments.

Setting his goal for another All-American, Bison Editor Dennis Organ encourages his staff to work a little harder in preparing assignments.

The results of intelligence, hard work, and dedication can be seen in the 1964 Bison which was awarded the All-American rating by the Associated Collegiate Press. Editor Dennis Organ received the good news by mail and the award was presented to him during chapel by Neil Cope, faculty advisor.

Outstanding achievements in photography, copy, editing, sports, and advertisements are necessary to acquire an All-American rating. The 1964 Bison staff was organized and directed by Editor Dennis Organ and Business Manager Terry Smith. Detailed planning and a well-organized personnel make possible this fine degree of excellence so vital in a top-flight college publication.

Editor Dennis Organ and Business Manager Earl Davidson are working hard this year to merit this top rating again. The staff spends many hours each week interviewing, writing, editing, and proof-reading. The week begins on Thursday for the staff when assignments are given and ends about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening when the paper is made available to students.

BISON

Persistence and work result in All-American rate

Advertisements encouraging students to shop at locations that support Harding College appear in the Bison each week as a result of work done by the business manager, Earl Davidson.

Faculty Advisor Neil Cope offers advice to student journalists whenever they need assistance.

With the challenge of six consecutive All-American yearbooks constantly before them, the volunteer staff began work on the 1966 Petit Jean early in September and continued almost unceasingly until the middle of March when key staff members journeyed to Oklahoma City for a final proofreading of the mounted pages before sending them to the printer in Topeka, Kansas.

Editor Tom Milton spent many long hours creating, organizing, improving, and correcting layouts and copy included in this year's book. Endeavoring to coordinate each section with the overall theme, Tom worked closely with each section editor as layouts were planned and pictures taken.

Setting a high goal for next year's business manager, Randy Robinette was responsible for increasing the amount of advertisements sold to businesses in and around Searcy. Encouragement from every side spurred him on in his efforts.

Working under pressure to meet the three major deadlines, staff members spent many hours drawing layouts, taking pictures, writing copy, and reading proof. In spite of discouragement and despair at times, each person experienced satisfaction and relief when his section was completed and mailed to Oklahoma City.

Petit Jean Day was the highlight of the year for all staff members. The book was dedicated to a worthy faculty member and a deserving coed was crowned queen. Staff members ended the day with their annual Petit Jean banquet.

Coordinating all layouts and copy with the theme of the '66 Petit Jean, Editor Tom Milton worked closely with each member of the staff.

Anticipating the publication of the 1967 Petit Jean, Judy Owens acquires basic organizational principles for the production of yearbooks.

Gaining valuable experience by working closely with Randy, Max Lorenz acquires insight into all the responsibilities of business manager.

Working with diligence and persistence toward the goal he set for himself as assistant business manager last year, Randy Robinette broke the preceding records for advertising space sold to businessmen.

Inspiring Petit Jean staff members to achieve increasingly higher standards, Dr. Joe Pryor avails himself to staff members who need advice.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Christianity expressed in missionary groups

Religion is a very vital part of Harding life, and college students are particularly concerned about the spread of Christianity to all parts of the world. Special organizations have been formed which help to prepare young people to serve as preachers and teachers around the globe.

Northern Lights members have foreseen the need of Christian workers in the Northern and Eastern United States and Canada. The Latin American, European, and Vietnamese Mission Clubs concentrate on teaching Christianity to the people of those areas.

The Timothy Club, Les Bonnes du Christe, the Australian Club, and the African Club serve as inspirational cores to encourage Harding students to grow in spiritual discernment and to develop a deeper interest in mission work and personal evangelism.

Most of the clubs are presently corresponding with missionaries in the countries of their specific interest. They provided attractive displays to encourage interest in the World Mission Workshop held on the campus during October. Speakers at the Workshop included George Gurganus, Malcolm Parsley, Otis Gatewood, Ira Rice, and Dwain Evans.

MUSIC GROUPS

Diligence, talent combined to produce quality

A Cappella Chorus members toured the states in the fall and spring to present musical programs of spiritual and secular numbers to churches, schools, and civic organizations. "Hymns from Harding," a program heard each Sunday on more than 200 radio stations throughout the United States, brings national acclaim to the campus. Dr. Kenneth Davis, Jr., director of the A Cappella and the Belles and Beaux, worked diligently each day to make certain that chorus members performed with professional skill during every presentation.

A new $70,000 Recording Studio was completed during the fall semester. The fully air-conditioned, soundproof building is an ideal place for music groups to use in their work.

During the last five years, tours of the Far East, Europe, and the Caribbean have proved the excellence of the Belles and Beaux troupe in entertaining men in the armed services. The versatility of this group seems to increase with every performance, and Harding audiences appreciate the talent and showmanship displayed.

The popular folk singing recruiters, Jim Green, Phil Griffin, and Mark Miller, encourage graduating seniors to apply for admission to Harding.

MUSIC GROUPS

Success of music groups attributed to hard work

Individual participation in school activities arouses school interest and spirit. This year the Harding Bison Band, under the direction of G. E. Baggett, performed intricately-timed precision marches on the Alumni Field at half time shows during home football games. Concert and marching band members spent hours each day rehearsing and drilling to perfect the group performances. The fall and spring concerts provided students and citizens of the community enjoyable evenings of classical and popular music.

SMENC, music oriented and filled with talent, presented outstanding chapel programs. The Green-Griffin-Miller Trio is a group recently organized to travel in Arkansas and the surrounding area to assist in the recruitment of future students. The Harding Chorale performed at lectureship programs and toured several states in the spring as part of their activities.

SPEECH GROUPS

Speech societies present refreshing amusement

Responsible for all phases of producing a play, including acting, directing, making costumes, and constructing scenery, the local dramatics organization, Campus Players, performs three major productions a year. A contribution of twenty-five hours per play is the qualification necessary to be admitted to the group.

The Harding Collegiate Players made plans for a USO tour to Greenland scheduled to start the middle of May. "Where's Charlie" is the production number scheduled for the trip.

Students and faculty members who make outstanding contributions to the dramatic activities of Harding are admitted to the national honorary dramatics fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega. At the annual Spotlight, drama awards and certificates are presented to deserving individuals for their achievement.

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a national debate and forensic society, was host to over 100 colleges and universities in Harding's first invitational debate tournament in December. This year the Harding debate team made nine trips to challenging tournaments.

KHCA, the campus radio station, presented nightly programs throughout the year broadcasting from the studio in the basement of the Bible building.

The Social Science Department offers excellent opportunities for history, political science, and business majors to express their interests, to broaden their perspective and to develop well-grounded reasoning ability. The Organization for Conservative, Academic, and Political Action presents programs designed to arouse interest in activities of the national government. The Young Republicans and Young Democrats rally members to their points of view through mock conventions and discussions of modern political action.

Admission to the American Studies program requires a high scholarship standing, and the program gives social science majors the opportunity to visit major American cities for case studies of specific economic, political, and industrial problems. Informal seminars where the students and faculty of the American Studies program can discuss current events of personal, national, or international importance, are scheduled regularly throughout the year. Guest speakers who are recognized as outstanding authorities are invited to the campus to lecture in their specialized fields of learning. Phi Alpha Theta membership recognizes superior academic achievement in the field of history.

Departmental extra-curricular organizations make classroom lectures more meaningful as students discuss current trends and problems related to their areas of specialization. The Student NEA prepares future teachers for better service through the use of films, conventions, and seminars with visiting educators. The Harding chapter of the Arkansas NEA boasts the largest membership of any of its fellow chapters.

Colhecon members learn about improved home-making techniques, fashion tips, and practical hints on child care. They continued their annual project of preparing Christmas gifts for the residents of the White County Home and Frazier Nursing Home.

A newly reorganized Camera Club gave photographers ideas on improved filming and stillshot techniques. Their exhibits of student photography were always interesting and served as an incentive for the members to improve their photographic skills and creativeness.

Curiosity about the arts and sciences has influenced the formation of many clubs on campus. Films and guest speakers stimulate interest in the medical arts for Philougeia members who are predominantly pre-medical and pre-nursing students. Eight members of Philougeia have received letters of acceptance at various medical schools in the United States.

Science Club members shared an interest in space travel and biology while future coaches and physical education instructors attended PEMM Club meetings. The honorary mathematics club, Mu Sigma Gamma, presented programs to aid its members in preparing to teach and to enter more technical fields of study.

Bijitsu was noted for the spring exhibits of sculpture and painting by its senior members, and their Christmas party was one of the highlights of the year. Discussions on new trends in business and accounting and visits to Little Rock and Memphis firms to view big business in action enabled Pi Gamma Psi members to prepare for their future vocation as informed business men and women.

BISON BOOSTERS

Support of athletic teams the aim of pep clubs

Striving for greater student participation and enthusiasm, the Bison Boosters decorated the stands and goal posts for all home football games, put up posters to encourage team support, and sponsored weekly pep rallies. Each sport participant was given a favor as a souvenir of his contribution to a game. In addition to the weekly recognition of the outstanding player of each game, a spring picnic was held for all athletes. In March the group sponsored a Junior College Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Bisonettes, a group of twenty-four girls organized in the fall to give added strength to cheers and to perform special routines with the cheerleaders, brightened the appearance of the stands with their gold and white uniforms.

Both the Bison Boosters and the Bisonettes were given special permission to attend away games going to Russellville for the football game with Arkansas Tech and to Arkadelphia for the basketball game with Ouachita Baptist University.

Always standing ready to encourage the Bison athletic team on to greater effort are the Bisonettes, a group of school spirit supporters.

SPECIAL INTERESTS

Specialized interests aimed at assisting others

Endeavoring to train more people to be proficient with sign language and to promote religious work among the deaf, many members of the Dactylology Club travel to Little Rock each Sunday to teach a class of deaf students at the Central Church of Christ. By visiting the School for the Deaf in Little Rock during the afternoon, the members of the group hope to become better acquainted and to make lasting friendships with the students. Many former Dactylology Club members have made it their life's vocation to work with the deaf, and several have become preachers for the deaf.

"Vacations and Vocations" was the theme chosen by the Harding Business Women as their motto for this year. At their monthly meetings, women faculty and staff members listened to lectures concerning various parts of the world. Working together to promote self-study and to provide opportunities for closer relationships between the members were just two of the many objectives sought after by the members this year.

SERVICE CLUBS

College life varied by active club participation

Miss Grace Wells, a resident of Berkeley, California, endowed Harding College with a scholarship fund in 1961 to be used by outstanding and deserving Harding women. A former Galloway Female College student, Miss Wells has endeared herself to many young ladies because of her sincere interest in them. Jacqueline Daniel, a mathematics major, and Faye Masters, an English major, are this year's recipients of the scholarship award. They each correspond regularly with Miss Wells and keep a scrapbook of biographical information on school activities.

The Interclub Council oversees and directs the women's social club activities throughout the year. Representatives from each women's club share the responsibilities of making certain that all Harding women enjoy to the maximum the fellowship and fun of college life.

Jacqueline Daniel and Faye Masters, recipients of Grace Wells scholarships, represent the deserving women Miss Wells desires to help.

Introducing new registrants to Harding is the function of the Big Sisters. Women students are chosen near the end of the spring semester to correspond with the new girls who plan to come to college in the fall. After a summer of "getting to know one another through letters," the Big Sisters return to school early in September in order to be on hand to greet new students and are considered a valuable factor in helping freshmen girls orient themselves to college life.

Circle K, sponsored by the Searcy Kiwanis Club, is composed of former Key Club members and college men interested in civic leadership and service. National and international conventions allow Circle K members to meet fellow collegians from around the world. Weekly meetings with interesting and informative programs are planned and are remembered by Circle K men as important contributing factors in their college development.

HARDING ACADEMY

DEDICATION

The '66 senior class dedicates Petit Jean to Mr. Larry M. Bills

Through your guidance, many students have received the honor and joy of being a member of the Harding Academy A Cappella Chorus. Because of your ability as a choral director, the chorus has maintained an outstanding record and has been able to take its message of song into the lives of countless people. All of your time given to us in daily rehearsals, your patience, your confidence — for all this we, the senior class of 1966, are grateful and dedicate our portion of the Petit Jean to you, Mr. Larry Bills.

Along with the choral work done in the Academy, Mr. Bills was elected Arkansas School Vocal Association President and has been this district's chairman for the past two years. Among his other duties are teaching Bible and music, directing the Junior High Chorus and Large Chorus, and supervising the Junior High Band.

Meeting with the A Cappella at seven-thirty for rehearsal each school day morning is only one of many daily activities Mr. Bills performs.

Mr. Larry M. Bills, BA

Playing the new role of a father along with being a husband, Mr. Bills displays great dedication to his wife Sara and baby girl Robin Gale.

ADMINISTRATION

Administrators are a valuable aid in academy's organization

PERRY S. MASON, MA, LLD, the superintendent of Harding Academy, has played a key role in maintaining the Christian standards of our school. Taking part in several school activities, he is sponsor of the Key Club, the Citizenship Club, and the Junior Civitan Club. There are many outside duties in which he participates. He was made an "Arkansas Traveler" and is widely known for his work in promoting Americanism.

J. E. BERRYHILL, MA, is the principal of the Academy. He is many different things to the students. Teaching Bible, social science, and driver education are three of his major duties. Promoting student relations, backing the Wildcats, and generally holding things together are all daily responsibilities of our principal.

FACULTY

Faculty was always present to listen and to advise students

Striving to maintain its record of excellence, the faculty of Harding Academy continued to climb to new heights with maintaining the standards of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as their major goal.

Throughout the year we discovered the pains of homework, the anxieties of cramming, and the satisfactions of learning and creative development. With patience and sympathy the faculty watched us grow and develop; with interest and understanding they helped us learn. In addition to their routine duties, our administrative personnel always strove to be prepared to meet any new situation and to consider the needs of each individual student. Through their guidance we grew mentally, physically, and most of all, spiritually.

Members of Academy faculty meet to exchange thoughts and ideas.

Eager students stand in line while waiting to become officially enrolled in the Academy's fall semester, which began on August twenty-eighth.

Chemistry students have the opportunity to stretch their imaginations beyond the limits of usual classroom discussions and lectures in weekly labs.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Academic standards spark a continual self-determination

Because of the small enrollment in the Academy, there is a unique opportunity for each student to play an important role in several different fields. This overlapping of responsibilities provides a challenge to each student. After being given the challenge which the Academy's academic life offers, each individual can excel and grow in student leadership which will further prepare him for his approaching college career.

Broadening of the students' spiritual knowledge and understanding is stressed at the Academy. A Bible class and chapel devotional is a part of the daily schedule. Having the chance to learn to read scripture before a group and being presented with the opportunity to lead a public prayer have served, and will continue to serve, as a key training point in the lives of countless young men. Thus, as he leaves the Academy, each student should realize the priceless privilege that has been provided for him in the development of all facets of his life.

ACADEMIC LIFE

Hard work and long hours reap satisfaction as a reward

At Harding Academy an eager, impatient air fills the halls as students are building a new world by the paths that each individual chooses for himself. Many doors are constantly being opened for those who have a purpose in life or a goal which they wish to achieve. Basic courses in mathematics, natural science, literature, art, social science, music, and Bible are the foundation of academic life at the Academy. Students soon learn to appreciate the dedication manifested by faculty members which guides them to knowledge and helps each student to develop the desire to open his own door and to follow his own path to a truly successful life.

Musical ability is highly respected and strongly emphasized at the Academy. Each morning the reverberating refrains of the rehearsing chorus can be heard throughout the building. Clubs ranging from honor scholarship to special interest groups provide the Academy with a stimulating, well-rounded program of activity.

In an appreciative spirit, 1965 seniors gave this Bible to the school.

These hands are of a younger and more challenging generation that typify a mind which is reaching to probe things creative and unexplored.

The direction of singing, reading of scripture, and leading of a public prayer are part of spiritual growth obtained from daily chapel services.

Cheerleaders cleverly conduct new and exciting ways of arousing group interests by creating a more alert atmosphere of school pep.

An undivided interest and a more cooperative attitude demonstrated by every individual present generated many more successful pep rallies.

Under the direction of Mrs. Irma Welch, members of the cast rehearse for annual Christmas play performed by the Academy speech classes.

STUDENT LIFE

School activities provide an opportunity for development

Early last September when we stood looking into the empty halls we were eager and impatient to break the silence and to begin the new school year which was before us. There were many new faces to become familiar with, names to be learned, and new friends to be made.

Our winning spirit in sports was the result of an effort on the part of both the team and students. School spirit was at its peak this year and played an important role in backing a deserving team of well-trained athletes.

STUDENT LIFE

We filled the halls with life, gave classrooms a meaning

Social clubs add experiences which enhance the spirit of student life. Pledge day, yearly banquets, caroling parties, and club rivalry in sports highlight the year's social club activities. There are three service clubs which devote most of their time to carrying out projects which provide additional facilities for the school plant.

Dormitory life for the Academy student presents a unique experience to those who are resident students. Being able to participate in all academic and school social events, Academy boys and girls gain excellent background for college through scholastic and spiritual development.

When thinking of the Academy's extracurricular activities, fond memories which are typical of everyday occurrences, are brought to mind. Snack breaks, the decorating of the halls, early morning chorus rehearsals, meetings after school, ball games, pep rallies, club functions, and chorus trips typify the experiences enjoyed.

On an early morning last September the doors of a new world were opened for students to explore and the doors of that world were closed with the commencement exercises on a day late in May.

Each week preceding the home football games, enthusiastic students show interest by volunteering to work on the decoration of the halls.

After blocking and tackling their way to an undefeated record in conference games, a proud team of Wildcats presents their district trophy to the school.

After harrasing the pledges at an informal party, pledgemasters continue to "inspire" weary pledges to recite familar club pledge.

STAR

STAR's begin festive holidays with their traditional carols

Seven new pledges came home very tired and weary after a night of hard pledging which was climaxed by a bunking party and rough initiation at Kristina West's home. After the beautiful ceremony of formal initiation held at Martina Prock's home, both new and old members were eager to fulfill the responsibilities afforded them through their club.

Sounds of laughter and smells of awaiting food were enjoyed at each bunking party held by the club. An annual formal banquet and a Christmas caroling party were among the main events enjoyed by all members and sponsor, Miss Ruth Browning. A service project in which everyone participated concluded the year's activities.

SUB-DEB

Sub Debs win championship in volleyball for second year

The Sub-Debs began their busy year by the initiation of eleven pledges. Informal initiation was an all-night affair at the home of Debbie Ganus. Pledges, among other varied activities, wandered blindfolded through the Academy field, collected pennies, and took part in the annual Kangaroo Court. Molly Mason's home was the setting for the formal initiation, a solemn candlelight ceremony. Other activities of the year included choosing two club beaux, Phillip Elliott and Rick Harris; having a caroling party; and selecting a banquet theme.

MUSIC GROUPS

Chorus gains far recognition through travel and programs

Music played a very important role in the curriculum at the Academy and was anyone's for the taking. Membership in the A Cappella Chorus was attained through a tryout, and rehearsals were held every morning at seven-thirty. Under the direction of Mr. Larry Bills, the A Cappella made two tours. A three day trip which took the chorus to the central portion of Mississippi began on November 5. The five day spring tour came on April 17, and this time the chorus toured Southern Louisiana. Both trips proved to be a success and will be remembered always by those who participated. Other events during the year included district and state choral tryouts, district and state choral festivals, and the yearly annual-signing party. The A Cappella was able to maintain the tradition of its outstanding record in the state choral program.

Two other groups furthered the opportunity of everyone's being able to take part in the musical program. The Junior High Chorus, which was made up of students in grades seven through nine, gave several programs and served as a valuable training point for future A Cappella members. Anyone was allowed to become a member of the Large Chorus, which gave a concert in the spring.

Final good-byes are being waved as Academy A Cappella departs on the annual fall tour, this year taking them to Central Mississippi.

ORGANIZATIONS

Through rendered services a club expresses its best ideas

Achievement, character, and leadership are outstanding qualities of all Beta Club members. In order to be a member a student must maintain a "90" average or above for two consecutive six-week periods. Buying a frame for the senior composite and a club breakfast at the end of the year for all members are among the projects planned each year. The Beta Club is capably sponsored by Mrs. Andy Ritchie. The Academy takes pride in having a high percentage of its students as Beta Club members.

Striving to further enrich the school program, the Wildcat, the Academy's newspaper, was published several times during the year by a capable staff under the direction of Jenene Hart, Editor. The hard work of the staff was rewarded with a paper the school appreciated.

Many hours of hard work were expended in assembling the Academy section of the 1966 Petit Jean. The staff set as its goal the depiction of a vivid story of the 1965-66 school year so that students could remember with joy and pride their Academy days. Under the direction of Kittena Puckett, Editor, this goal was reached.

ORGANIZATIONS

Service clubs readily welcome the opportunity to aid others

Members of the Harding Academy Future Homemakers of America enjoyed an eventful year in 1965-66 under the supervision of Mrs. George Hobby as sponsor. Among the activities were initiating new members, being host to the district federation convention on the Harding campus, having the annual banquet, and selecting a project to which each student could make his own contribution.

Students who are members of the National Thespian Society receive the opportunity to advance in dramatic arts in the secondary schools. A Christmas play and a three-act spring play were this year's projects.

Under the supervision of Mr. Mason, the Academy Citizenship Club is a strong voice in our student body and wields an important influence over student life in the school community. Creating better relations between the student and teacher and making and carrying out important decisions also are part of the duties of this club.

Sponsored by our business instructor, Bill Diles, the Future Business Leaders of America is an important organization in the Academy, although presently inactive. Selected from the membership of the club are several different types of teams which participate in state-wide competition. Much success was attained this year with some of our students winning top ratings in the state.

Three service clubs active at the Academy are the Junior Key Club, Senior Key Club, and Junior Civitan Club. Selling fruit cakes and having a car wash are the annual projects of the Senior Key Club. Similar projects are held by the Junior Key Club and Junior Civitan Club for the purpose of raising money for the betterment of the Academy facilities.

ORGANIZATIONS

Participation assists students in depths of self-expression

The Junior Beta Club, sponsored by Miss Ruth Browning, is open to junior high students maintaining a high scholastic average. It encourages the younger students to strive for better grades and to maintain a high average throughout their high school years. During the year President Patti Stevens arranged programs and other activities in which members could participate.

Having an effective, systematic library is the main purpose of the Library Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Irma Welch, eye-catching bulletin boards and attractive displays made the Academy library a more interesting place in which to study and broaden one's education.

Arousing school spirit and supporting the various teams are the main goals of the Harding Academy Pep Club. Among the duties of the club, under the leadership of President Diane Stevens and the supervision of Mrs. Barnes, the sponsor, was the decoration of the halls before each football game and the preparation of the annual homecoming activities. An active part of the Pep Club were the cheerleaders who did a great job in organizing pep rallies before the fans at the games and decorating the goal posts.

FOOTBALL

Harding Academy Wildcats gain clear conference record

With August came the beginning of a training period which was to form the 1965 Harding Academy Wildcats. Coaches Ed Higginbotham and Cliff Sharp headed the daily practices as hopes were high for the coming season. Receiving quite a setback from their loss to Des Arc, the Wildcats worked harder and came back to win all conference games. A 13-0 victory over the Augusta Devils closed a winning season which won for the Cats the district crown and a 7-1-1 record. Through their outstanding leadership the senior members contributed greatly to the team's success and made their last year of football a memorable one.

Ten boys were chosen for the district team: Phillip Elliott, Jerry Moore, Charles Bridgeman, James Bixler, Mike Hedrick, Phil Hughes, Gus Meuli, Mary Thompson, David Lawson, and David Berryhill. Bixler was named the outstanding lineman in this district. One Wildcat was picked for the all-state honors, James Bixler, and Phillip Elliott, Marty Thompson, and Mike Hedrick were given the honorable mention distinction.

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

In his first winning season as head coach, Ed Higginbotham strikes familiar sideline pose as he ponders Wildcat's situation on the field.

Charles Bridgeman leads the interference as all-district halfback Jerry Moore sweeps over right tackle on an important third down situation.

As the clock begins to tick for the second half, Gus Meuli jumps to give the Cats possession of the ball and a good lead over Kensett.

Jumping with out-stretched hands, All-County and All-District player Phillip Elliott maneuvers toss-up to give Cats possession of the ball.

BASKETBALL

Hustling Wildcat roundballers emerge successful in season

The roundballers of the Academy gave their enthusiastic fans many thrills and few disappointments as they compiled a record of twenty wins and ten losses during the regular season of competition. The 1965-66 Wildcats reached the quarter-finals in two extra-season tournaments, the semi-finals in one, and the finals in another, each time losing to the tournament winner.

Part of the Wildcat's strength lay in the fact that they had good ball control while under extreme pressure. Also present was an enthusiasm which led to a desire to win that enabled the team to come from behind in several games to win the contest.

Recognized by the coaches for his outstanding basketball ability and leadership qualities was Phillip Elliot, who was chosen for both the All-County and All-District teams.

Graduating Wildcats include Meuli, Moore, Hughes, Bixler, and Roll.

SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM. Coach Higginbotham, Lasley (Manager), Watts, Sapp, Roll, Wood, Meuli, Moore, Harris, Hughes, Martin, Elliott, Atteberry, Berryhill, Thompson, Harris, Lawson, Bixler.

In the Class B district meet, miler Bruce Henson set a 4:37.4 record.

Anchorman Freddie King clinches a district mile relay record of 3:41.2.

TRACK

Class B competition trounced as two state records are set

The story of the 1965 track team could be written by saying that the victorious group's effort was one which paid off in dividends plus a bonus. The 1965 Academy Wildcat track team racked up victory after victory in a regular season of strenuous competition. Being county and district champions only whetted the Wildcats' appetites when it came time to enter the state track meet held in Little Rock. Placing second in the Class B school state competition, the Cats took two first place categories, and one second place. Fifteen tracksters took honors in the county meet, setting three new records. In the district, the academy team had thirteen of its members place, winning for the second time individual honors and setting two new records in the 880 yard run and the discus throw. Bruce Henson and Dickie Berryhill were the most outstanding members of the renowned group. Henson's record in the 880 yard run is 2:06.5, and Berryhill claimed double honors by capturing the lead in the 440 yard relay and recording a 46.2 timing. Berryhill took advantage of a powerful throwing arm and hurled the discus to a record 139'11½".

1965 TRACK TEAM. FIRST ROW: Hedrick, Thompson, Harris, Moore. SECOND ROW: Berryhill, Stafford, Bridgeman.

Moved from the college park to the football field and then postponed because of rain only caused the Academy bonfire to be more of a success.

SUB-DEB SPIRIT AWARD

Philip Pulley

Excelling in many areas, Philip Pulley has been chosen by his classmates as the student who best typifies the true spirit of Harding Academy. Philip, through his expert leadership in extracurricular activities, his cheerful interest in others, and his unquestionable conduct, is an example of the type of sincere Christian who is an ideal Academy student. Philip, an outstanding all around person, exhibits his leadership abilities as president of his class and of the Citizenship Club. After school hours his friendly smile waits to greet students who come to the building for a meeting or to retrieve some forgotten books. This pleasant manner has made Philip a favorite among all his classmates.

From the editor's desk:

In assembling the various sections of a yearbook, two tremendous factors are involved, these being the human and the mechanical factors. Both factors are so important that failure in either area can mean failure in both. People aren't machines and cannot be treated as such. They require constant attention in order effectually to create and produce results of superior quality. They all have different intelligence quotients and personalities, and each must be treated as an individual. The second factor so important in publishing the annual is concerned with the mechanical and technical aspects, which are relatively stable in concept and operation, although they still require the attention of people in order to achieve perfection of operation. The mechanical factor is, of course, the most easily controlled. Both the human and the mechanical factors must be successfully combined in order to achieve the end result that is desirable and attainable . . . the Pursuit of Excellence!

In my opinion, the staff of the 1966 Petit Jean has sought to achieve this goal. Staff members deserve any compliment they receive. In many instances they sacrificed whatever was necessary in order to assure superior quality work on these pages. They were unwilling to accept anything but the very best. There are several people that have given assistance — that stand out in the long list of helpers who had some part in producing this year's Petit Jean. First, I think Dr. Joe Pryor is a great man. His knowledge and influence always mean the difference between superior quality yearbooks and mediocre publications. He deserves any recognition he gets! Others who have contributed a special sacrificing effort and are due special thanks are Randy Robinette for his help, encouragement, and for soliciting the continued support from the advertisers — Jim Gray and Pat Lyon for taking and developing the pictures — Joe Belew for his undying wit and cooperative attitude — Herman West and his capable staff — Russell Simmons and the Publications staff for needed pictures and kind words — Ben and Roger Red for encouragement, advice, and for printing pictures — John Clark of the American Yearbook Company for his expert guidance and services — the faculty, staff, and student body for their cooperation in getting their pictures taken — and all the 1966 staff members for their work and sacrifices.
